DAVE TRIES TO START "FAKE" RIOT, CHARGE

Commissioner Morse Accuses Mayor of Attempting to Engineer Disturbance, So He Can Seize Police Control

Councilman in Letter to Davie Threatens to Have Him and All Others in Alleged Plot Arrested and Prosecuted

Charging that Mayor John L. Davie connived with plans to cause "disturbances" in connection with recent labor troubles, and that he attempted to cast discredit on the present office of commissioner of public health and safety by fomenting such a disturbance, Commissioner F. F. Morse today in a letter to Davie warned him that any continuance of such practices would mean prompt arrests.

Morse even hinted that among the arrests might be the mayor's. Morse charges that Davie has expressed a desire to "become a second Ole Hansen," that he had attempted to organize a meeting to request that he take over the police department, and that he has conspired with the chief of police without Morse's knowledge as head of the department.

"Let me say," warns Morse, "that if such plan or any plan is devised by you or any person to take the action suggested, I will use every power which I possess to see the guilty persons participating are immediately arrested and severely punished."

Morse's letter follows:

"February 19, 1919.
Honorable John L. Davie,
Mayor of the City of Oakland.

"Dear Sir:—I am informed that you are participating in plans to cause unlawful disturbances in the City of Oakland; that you have had several conferences to such end and have requested that an unlawful commotion be made so that you could be called in to restore order; that you have further asked that either a public meeting be held or that a riot be organized to request you to take charge of the police department and thereby prevent further disorder; that, indeed, you have gone so far as to express a desire to become a second Ole Hansen in this city."

"You have conspired with the Chief of Police without communicating with me and have asked him whether or not he will accept orders from you in such emergency. You are aware that the charter of this city provides that the chief of police is to be appointed by you in conjunction with me only in the event of a succession of deaths. You are further aware that no such condition now exists or has existed in this city."

"I cannot conceive that you, or any other man, would deliberately brand this city as a hotbed of lawlessness and a place of riot, insurrection and tumult for the purpose of obtaining any private or political end."

"Let me say that if such plan, or any plan, is devised by you, or any person, to take the action suggested, I will use every power which I possess by virtue of my office and as a private citizen to see that the guilty persons participating are immediately arrested and severely punished. The present conditions of unrest are such that I, as Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, cannot permit lives and property of this city to be placed in jeopardy by riot or conduct of the character suggested."

"Yours very truly,
F. F. MORSE,
Commissioner of Public Health and Safety."

"I don't give a damn what Morse said," remarked Mayor Davie this afternoon after reading the commissioner's letter. "The charter gives me police power in case of an emergency and if any disturbance takes place I will use it without consulting him. He is nothing but a commissioner. I am the mayor. As to all these charges that I started an incipient riot, let him try to prove them. After all he makes no real charges, but simply says he has heard all this. It all cuts no ice with me."

"I desire to announce to you and to all persons of the City of Oakland that law and order will be rigidly enforced by my department in the present trying times. Any person who shall participate in a riot or unlawful disturbance, or who shall aid or encourage the same directly or indirectly, shall be subjected to immediate arrest and severe punishment."

"With this end in view I have arranged for an adequate police force to meet any emergency and can assure you and the people of this city that full police protection will be given at any cost."

"I am giving notice at this time because of certain information which has come to me and which I am now thoroughly investigating."

"Back Society of Nations," Appeal to People of West, By Peace League Conference

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The arrival of William Howard Taft at the Civic Auditorium at noon today threw the previously orderly opening session of the League of Nations into a shouting and cheering mob. Former President Taft, arriving in the midst of the address of Henry Morgenthau, former American Ambassador to Turkey, and it was many minutes before the ambassador's address, the president of the league having been seated on the platform, could be resumed.

Professor Taft was escorted into the auditorium by Mayor James Rolph Jr., following announcement from the rostrum of his approach. His entrance upon the hall was the signal for an enthusiastic outburst from the 4,000 persons who constituted the audience, which continued as he progressed down the aisle and took his seat beside Charles C. Moore, the presiding officer of the opening session.

Taft's first address was delivered at a luncheon in honor of the League of Nations speakers at the St. Francis Hotel this noon. His first public address will be at this evening's session of the League of Nations at the Civic Auditorium in addition to former Ambassador Morgenthau, Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, and Henry Van Dyke, recent minister to The Netherlands, were the speakers of the opening session.

The league took cognizance today of the attempted assassination of Premier Clemenceau in a cablegram sent to the president of France. This cable, read at the close of this morning's session by President Taft, was as follows:

"The proposed covenant is simple. It is clear. It breathes the spirit of the great cause of peace and cooperation in the great cause of a just and durable peace on earth. It contains no provisions which conflict in any way with the constitution of the United States or with the sovereignty of our great Republic. On the contrary it magnifies that sovereignty by making our country a willing partner in the most beneficent and far-reaching plan ever undertaken by the tribes and peoples of any time."

"It gives to America a place as a leader and a potent factor in the making of a better age wherein men and nations shall no longer fight and devour each other, but shall live together in the spirit of peace toward all men. We may wish for more. We may possibly get more, but if we get these things, we shall have more than the world has ever had before."

"No huns in it unless reds shown. Shall Germany share in the benefits of such a league? Yes, if she becomes good. We could not and would not prevent her sharing in its benefits. They are for all of the world. But shall she be a member of such a league? Ah, this is a different question. First of all she must repent and prove her repentance by her work of restitution and reparation. Second, she must get a solid government, directly responsible to the people and free alike from convicted liars and bloody Bolsheviks. When those two things come to pass the admission of Germany to the league may be considered seriously, but not before."

"The other delegates had arrived ahead of Taft. They reached the Oakland mole at 8:23 and arrived in San Francisco at 8:50. In this distinguished party of scholars and statesmen were Lieutenant Commander Henry Van Dyke, U. S. N.,

Society of Nations Will Not Be Political Issue, but Will Be Adopted, Predicts Former President in Oakland

Famous Smile Works Overtime When Girls Shower Leader With Flowers; Clemenceau News Is Regretted

William Howard Taft and his famous smile arrived in Oakland this morning en route to San Francisco, where he is to open the League of Nations conference today. He came giving his fullest endorsement to the league of nations covenant which has just been adopted by the Paris conference.

"I am talking for it morning, noon and night," he said in answer to the question as to his attitude on the subject. "I can say that it has my approval in every respect."

Taft had heretofore reserved an expression on the covenant pending a study of it. "Do you think the league of nations will be an issue in the coming presidential election?" a reporter asked him.

"Not at all," he replied. "The league of nations is a political issue at all. The plan will have been adopted and there will be nothing about it to debate during the next campaign."

The former president of the United States traveled in an ordinary Pullman coach. A single railroad special policeman was there instead of the retinue that had followed him when he was president. As he passed by the ferry gate at the Oakland mole, he was greeted by a crowd of people. He was smiling and waving his hand to the crowd.

But there was one thing that had not changed. It was the cheering mob. The league of nations was being hailed as a great achievement. The crowd was shouting and waving their hands. Taft was smiling and waving his hand to the crowd.

As he looked up in the photograph, Taft smiled at the camera most vividly. And when he stepped out of the Pullman steps and shook hands with Gavin McNab and other members of the reception committee he was smiling.

Taft still heavy. SHOWS AGE SLIGHTLY. Taft seemed older than upon his last appearance here. There are lines about his face and there is a certain heaviness in his features. But he is still a man of great presence and dignity.

A committee composed of Gavin McNab, representing Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco; Milton E. Esberger, representing the League of Nations Society of the West; and Charles Vogelstein, a friend of Taft, were on hand to greet him.

After he had greeted the committee Taft stopped at the house of Rolph, Jr., where he was a guest. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter. They were all smiling and waving their hands to the crowd.

A bevy of Red Cross workers, headed by Commandant Wallace Alexander and Captain George Morrison, waited upon Taft, presented him flowers and conducted him to the Red Cross hut.

Young Anarchist Who Fires on Premier In Auto Captured by Crowd and Beaten

Policeman and Chauffeur Are Wounded in Rain of Bullets Aimed at "The Tiger," Who Is Seated in Limousine

Clemenceau Walks Unaided to His Home With Bullet Lodged in Back; Poincare and Other Notables Call

By Associated Press. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. PARIS, Feb. 19.—Georges Clemenceau, the French premier, was struck three times by bullets in an attempt to assassinate him today. One bullet entered the right shoulder and lodged under the left shoulder, missing the spinal cord and lungs. The other two bullets caused scarcely more than abrasions of the skin on the right arm and right hand.

By United Press. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. PARIS, Feb. 19.—According to the latest available information (noon), the bullet lodged in Clemenceau's back, near the spine, and it was feared the wound was more dangerous than first announced, especially because of the danger of diabetes developing. An X-ray examination was to be held this afternoon.

By Associated Press. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. PARIS, Feb. 19.—Professors Lauri, Gosset and Cuisinier examined the wound in Premier Clemenceau's shoulder. According to their diagnosis the bullet was struck in the right shoulder blade. The bullet penetrated without a visceral lesion. The doctors reported general and local conditions as perfect.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Georges Clemenceau, France's aged but vigorous premier, was shot and severely wounded this morning as he was entering his automobile for a drive. Seven shots were fired by the assassin, three hitting Clemenceau.

Physicians attending him stated that one bullet had entered the back of the head, another the right shoulder blade. The bullet had been located in the region of his right shoulder. The bullet has not been removed.

Although the premier coughs a great deal, there is no evidence of blood from the respiratory tract. The shooting took place at 8:55 o'clock this morning as the premier was leaving his house in the Rue Franklin to go to the war office. The assassin was an ordinary-looking man dressed as a workman. He was arrested.

PRISONER THOUGHT TO BE RUSSIAN. The assassin is Emilie Cotton, 25 years old, and known in anarchist circles as "The Tiger." He was living in his home in Montreuil quarter of Paris. The police do not believe the papers he possesses belong to him and are inclined to think him a Russian anarchist. He is fair with long light hair and is tall of stature.

First reports of the incidents of the shooting were contradictory, especially as to whether the premier had stepped out of his automobile when the shots were fired. It seemed to have been established, however, that Clemenceau was already in his automobile. The car was turning a corner of the Rue Franklin into the Rue de Valenciennes when the shooting occurred. The car was stopped on the sidewalk by a man standing on the door of the automobile and several times. One of the bullets penetrated the interior of the car and struck the premier in the back.

The only sign of trouble from the wound, it was stated, was a slightly increased temperature. An enormous crowd, which observed a respectful silence, assembled near Clemenceau's residence after the occurrence. Within a half hour Premier Clemenceau arrived. He was quickly followed by members of the cabinet, high officials of the government and representatives of the army and navy, as well as of the diplomatic corps, including War Minister Georges Clemenceau, the American ambassador.

It was in the struggle with the assassin that the police officer was wounded. Meanwhile, the premier had stepped out of his automobile and walked into his house.

Policeman Goursat, who was wounded in the right eye, although not seriously, told a representative of the Associated Press that Premier Clemenceau rushed up to the assassin and grappled with him.

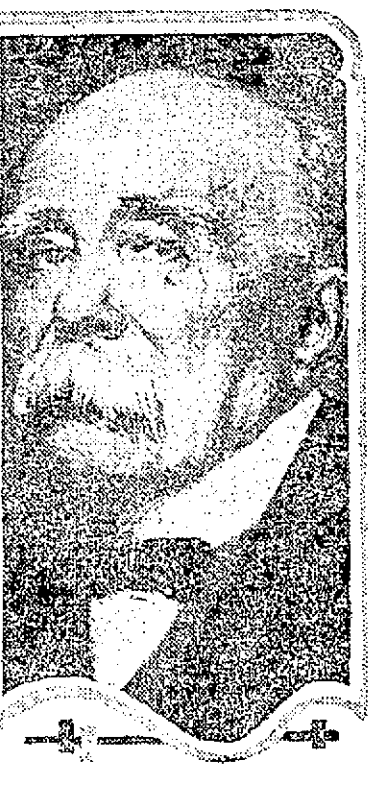

One of the witnesses of the shooting, Henry Moulin, a barber's assistant, told The Associated Press representative that when he heard the first shot fired he believed it was the Americans firing in the air "as they are in the habit of doing."

Moulin rushed out of his shop when he was told what was happening. They have assassinated Clemenceau," he cried. He closed with the premier's assassin, Moulin added, and the man threw away his revolver and held up his hands.

ASSASSIN BEATEN BY CROWD. Walkers from a nearby restaurant joined in holding the assassin, whom the police had some difficulty in getting from them. He was beaten by the crowd. One of the men in the crowd seemed to wish to help the premier's assailant and the crowd also beat him.

According to Policeman Goursat, the assassin emptied his weapon. All the windows of the premier's automobile were smashed by the bullets. When the first shot was fired

SENATOR ASKS LARGE FORCE TO SUBDU REDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A resolution calling on the United States and the allies to send a sufficient force into Russia to subdue the Bolsheviks was introduced in the Senate this afternoon by Senator McCumber of North Dakota.

It was realized that owing to the premier's advanced age he might be considered the present obstacle to the completion of the peace conference's work.

Had in hand personally negotiating the peace conference, it follows that so far as these are concerned there must be a suspension of activity for the time being.

These subjects were of great importance as affecting the whole plan of the conference's operation, inasmuch as they related to the completion of an early treaty of peace.

It is believed the present obstacle to the completion of the peace conference's work is the advanced age of the premier. The French government, while desiring an early peace, doubted whether the moment had yet arrived when this could be arranged without sacrificing the fruits of victory, and it had pointed out to the other powers what were regarded as grave omissions in the part of Germany to comply with the terms of the armistice.

By FRED S. FERGUSON. United Press Staff Correspondent. PARIS, Feb. 19.—The attempt upon the life of Premier Clemenceau this morning caused a temporary halt in the progress of the delegates to the peace conference.

American, British, French and Italian delegates had planned to discuss the program for a preliminary peace today with the intention of completing the outline completed soon after President Wilson's return to Paris. Relief was expressed that the pact might be ready for final discussion by the middle of April.

The lengths to which the sessions will continue after the German delegates are hopeful of affecting the peace settlement by June, allowing for delays that possibly may be necessitated by the Germans desiring to refer certain questions to their government.

SECRETARY BAKER SENDS MESSAGE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Secretary of War Baker sent this message to Premier Clemenceau:

"I am inexpressibly shocked and grieved at the attempt on your life, which is just reported by cable to us, and beg to express my deep concern and hope for your speedy recovery. The genius and determination which you have used so splendidly in the service of the world has made us all your debtors. May that same spirit give you triumph over the assassin's bullet and save you for further service to France and to the world."

By United Press. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. PARIS, Feb. 19.—"It is nothing," was "The Tiger's" only comment after he had walked into his house, unaided following the shooting.

His brother and secretary, told the United Press that the wound was not serious at present and that the only danger would be from possible infection.

Captain Andre Tardieu, commissioner of Franco-American relations, said that before the bullet lodged in Clemenceau's shoulder it passed through the fleshy part of his neck but did not even sever any arteries.

The first foreign officials to call at the premier's residence to inquire about his condition were Premier Venizelos of Greece and Ambassador de Leon of Spain.

News of the attack on Clemenceau spread rapidly through the city. There were excited comments on the boulevard, in the cafes and public buildings.

The foreign peace delegates hastened to inquire regarding the premier's condition. The news was flashed to President Wilson by wireless.

All the American peace delegates expressed keen regret and appreciation of the premier's qualities. They called at the residence during the day. Marshal Foch was also among the callers.

Diplomat on Way to Confer With Colonel House and Balfour Over Hastening Peace When He Is Shot

Whole Program of Delegates Halted; Grave Situation Is Created; Clemenceau in Charge of Important Details

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The American delegates to the peace conference, when they learned of the attempt on Premier Clemenceau's life, began to consider the effect of the event upon their own plans in connection with the conference.

On the assumption that the official reports minimizing the nature of Clemenceau's injuries were correct, the belief was expressed that there would not be any great delay in the execution of the comprehensive plans laid out for the proceedings of the peace conference during the absence of President Wilson and David Lloyd George, the British premier.

Premier Clemenceau when he was shot was on his way to a conference with Colonel E. M. House of the American peace delegation and Arthur J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary. An important question was to have been taken up concerning more rapid procedure before the supreme council.

COLONEL HOUSE RECEIVES NEWS BY PHONE. The news of the attempted assassination reached Colonel House by telephone from the foreign office just as he was starting from the Hotel de Crillon with Secretary Balfour. The two men at once began to consider what steps should be taken regarding the general situation created by the event.

It was realized that owing to the premier's advanced age he might be considered the present obstacle to the completion of the peace conference's work.

ESSEN HELD BY REDS OF RHINELAND

ESSEN, Feb. 18, via London, Feb. 19.—Essen, the seat of the great Krupp gun works, is in the hands of the soldiers' council, and there is a talk of a break-off between this district and Berlin with the possibility of a separate peace for the Rhineland if the entente would consider such a proceeding.

Neither Berlin nor Weimar knows what is about to happen here.

Recruiting for the German national army has been stopped and the revolutionists have mounted machine guns and are blowing up bridges around Essen.

Red Cross Feeds 400 Hungry Men Oakland Welcomes Overseas Troops

Four hundred hungry men were welcomed and fed today at the Red Cross Hut at Oakland Pier. Early this morning Mrs. Wallace Alexander, head of the Red Cross Canteen, received a telegram from the officer in charge of the 400 overseas men that they had been stalled in the mountains and would therefore arrive at Oakland Pier with ravenous appetites. That no soldier, who had offered his very life upon the battle fields of France, should fail to be offered a meal by Oakland, Mrs. Alexander saw that every woman of the canteen service was "on the job" within a few minutes after the telegram arrived. Result: four hundred hungry men, refreshed and strengthened by good food, were enthusiastic over the hospitality of the Red Cross and of Oakland.

All this—and something like it happens every day—is only made possible by the continued interest of the people of Oakland, said Mrs. Alexander today. And the Red Cross executives take this opportunity to let the people know how their money is used—the money they turn into the treasury of the Red Cross when they send donations to the Red Cross Shop, for the Shop is today the source of revenue for Oakland Chapter.

To continue this work, continue to send donations by calling up Lakewood 991, and asking the Red Cross truck to call for them.

Death Ends Hawaiian Romance Mrs. Afong's Ancestors Ruled Islands

Cablegrams were received last night by Mrs. W. H. Whiting of Berkeley, wife of Rear Admiral Whiting, telling of the death of her mother, Mrs. Julia Afong, in Honolulu yesterday.

The full name of the deceased was Mrs. Julia Ilopa Kamaikapaikamoku Afong. Mrs. Afong was a young girl passing marks the close of one of the most romantic histories of the Pacific. It was in her palatial home town house and beach home where was made the history in connection with the Americanization of the islands, and these homes have been for years the meeting place of wealthy travelers of the Orient and the Occident.

Mrs. Afong's grandfather was an Englishman, Captain George Beckey, who in the early days of Honolulu married a daughter of Ahia Ii, ruler of all the Hawaiians. Her father was Abraham Fayerweather, a Connecticut Yankee. In 1850 when she was but a young girl she became the wife of Ah Fong, a young Chinese merchant, arrived from China. In order to marry her it was necessary that he should become a subject of the country, which he did, following which he was made privy counselor to the king.

Ah Fong developed the Paapeko plantation, a large mercantile establishment, and was made resident Chinese consul at Honolulu after he had renounced his Chinese citizenship. He also changed his name to Chun Afong.

There were fifteen Afong children, twelve girls and three boys. Eleven of the girls married Americans.

In 1880 Chun Afong was elected of the more modern American life of the islands and returned to China with his favorite son, Anthony C. Afong. He amassed a second fortune in China. Anthony married a daughter of a Chinese viceroys and his eldest son is now a student at Harvard.

The Afong property holdings in Hawaii are still among the largest fortunes of the islands.

Mrs. Afong was 89 years old.

CLASS IN SPEAKING.
A university extension class in public speaking for beginners, to meet once a week for two hours in the evening in room 107 of the Hotel Oakland, was announced today for Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock by Miss Carol Everts of the staff of the department of public speaking at the university. Emphasis will be laid upon training in making extemporaneous speeches. Each member of the class will have an opportunity to speak at each meeting.

ROSENBLATT HAS THREE VOICES

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.
Cantor Joseph Rosenblatt, who sang his first songs in the west at the Savoy in San Francisco last evening, has a voice well adapted to the rabbinical repertoire to which he chiefly devotes it and no ears practiced in that species of vocal work. It is not a voice that the person untutored in synagogue ways will relish at first hearing. The enthusiastic applause which greeted him last night was almost the devotional and ardent of his own race, with still hands and bated breath, would have mentally accorded him at his cantorial post. The easier cliche of the concert hall permits them opportunity for more audible appreciation.

It is really incorrect to speak of him as one voice. It is three voices. His lower tones compose a rich and resonant high baritone, to gentle ears the most pleasing by far of his registers. Above that is a clear, but dry and not especially vibrant tenor, a very manly ample tenor, surging more because of his nervous energy than for pure beauty of tone. Above this still is a most startling falsetto, somewhat hoarse, resembling nothing so much as the orchestral oboe of the solo organ heard far away. The flexibility and agility of this falsetto is astounding. It is almost impossible to believe that the body of, say, the Caruso falsetto or the sweetness of John McCormick's falsetto is anything like it.

Equally interesting with the part of voice is Cantor Rosenblatt's method of using it. The two lower registers are pleasant, blended, indeed, forming a consecutive voice, but the falsetto seems to be no less a separate voice. It is not a falsetto, but a voice in itself, a voice that, but for his evidently uninterrupted presence, might have been anyone's. Taken downwards there was a change in timbre so abrupt that it came to be looked for to the partial extinguishment of the more vigorous vocalization of his work. The surprising breaks which give the impression of a change of error in breath management quickly show themselves an integral phase of his method, disconcerting at times but not lessening the quality of his most remarkable emotional quality.

This much clinical study of the Cantor's voice is unavoidable, because his efforts at so many points from any other voice ever heard in the west. His merits are evident as well as his limitations. The cantorial register is characterized by particular roundness and power and a finely sustained legato. His tenor voice climbs an astounding dramatic stage without a visible effort. There is much of sympathy and tenderness in the falsetto. Cantors who the more sincere as familiarity with it is established.

DIGNITY IS PRONOUNCED.

The dignity and seriousness of the religious place was always pronounced, not alone in the powerful hymn of the atonement, "Kol Nidre," but in his in a similar manner, with which he responded to the repeated applause. The "Omar Nabbi Elazar" as an experiment in florid work which never slighted precision or force, was one of the most impressive numbers of the program. The cantorial and cantorial qualities of Mr. Rosenblatt's voice were less happily turned to either the Benediction-Marcus, a Bilet number from the "Pearl Fishers," or the group of modern songs. Largely this was due to his auditors' unfamiliarity with his sort of voice in this sort of songs.

Stuart Ross proved a capable, careful accompanist. His solo numbers, especially the Bach Solitudes, were fluently played and without technical flaw.

New Year Hilarity Cause of Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Hilarity reigned so high in Robert Wallach Jr., son of a Geary street furrier, when he celebrated last New Year's eve in a downtown cafe has just resulted in a divorce which has been secured from him by his wife.

During the evening, she testified, a member of the party poured champagne over her husband and called for more. When he attempted to dance with an entertainer he felt and he demonstrated when she tried to help him, she says. She testified that when she tried to kiss her husband and he way home he became indignant and said: "Cut that stuff. This isn't a mush party. This is a booze party. This is New Year's eve."

The Duo-Art Piano Taking Harold Bauer's Place as Soloist With the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra

The Marvelous Duo-Art Piano Plays With Four Great Symphony Orchestras

The Duo-Art Piano is no longer new to the public. It is conceded to be the great achievement in the progress of music. Its power is so marvelous that it is almost impossible to comprehend, much less adequately describe. While many now have Duo-Art Pianos in their homes and nightly listen with awe to the world's greatest music played exactly as the master pianists play it, it remained for its appearance as SOLOIST with the great Symphony Orchestras of this country to achieve its greatest triumph.

The first appearance of the Duo-Art Piano with a Symphony Orchestra was on November 17, 1917, in Aeolian Hall, New York, with the Symphony Society of New York. Walter Damrosch, conductor; the second appearance was on January 21, 1918, in the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, Leopold Stokowski, conductor; the third event was held on December 10, 1918, in Orchestra Hall, Chicago, with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Eric de Lamarier, conductor.

The fourth and most recent appearance was at the regular symphony concerts of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, Friday, January 31, and Sunday, February 2, 1919, at the Curran Theater, San Francisco, Alfred Hertz conducting. On this occasion the Duo-Art Piano took Harold Bauer's place as soloist.

The Concert Grand Piano, untouched by human hands, played Harold Bauer's interpretation of the Saint-Saens Concerto in G minor.

Two representative symphony audiences listened to this extraordinary piano play the three movements of the Saint-Saens Concerto—heard the difficult and complicated piano part played in perfect accord with the orchestra. At the conclusion of the number there was not one person but was startled with the significance of what had occurred—Mr. Harold Bauer, at that moment in New York, 3000 miles away, playing a Tchaikovsky Concerto with the Philharmonic Society, had exhibited his highest art as literally as though he sat in person at the keyboard. His extraordinary genius transcribed upon a music roll in the fullness of both its technique and spirit was a present actuality to every listener.

While this achievement establishes beyond doubt the musical standing of the Duo-Art Piano, it is evident that this wonderful instrument has even a broader field than the concert stage—namely, the home. The world's greatest music, played exactly as the master pianists play it, will be brought to the fireside by the marvelous Duo-Art Piano. The Duo-Art Piano is truly marvelous.

The Duo-Art Piano is made by the Aeolian Company and is obtainable in the Steinway, Weber, Steck and Stroud in grands and uprights (in Stroud, upright only). Sherman, Clay & Co. is the sole representative of the Duo-Art Piano in its territory on the Pacific Coast. You are cordially invited to come in and hear the marvelous Duo-Art.

Alleged Shoplifter Has Six Silk Shirts

With the arrest of Arthur H. Woodburn last night the police believe they have put a stop to a long series of shop-liftings which have been reported by the downtown stores during the past month. Woodburn is being held for further investigation.

When arrested Woodburn had in his possession six silk shirts and an overcoat which, he told the police, he had taken from the stores of Taft & Penney and Roos Bros., respectively.

Face Cream Is Story of Locked Money Box

The presence of a locked money box in the luggage of Antoinette Philbert, arrested last night at First street and Broadway, has landed the new arrival in jail pending an investigation. Philbert said the box contained face cream when he was arrested. Then he said he couldn't open it, as he had no key—had lost it, in fact. The police suspect that there may be more than face cream and a lost key in the mystery, and are investigating the details.

LEAGUE TO MEAN WAR, NOT PEACE.

—SENATOR POINDEXTER.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—In the first prepared address on the League of Nations delivered in the Senate since the constitution of the proposed league was made public, Senator Poindexter of Washington, Republican, today declared the entrance of the United States into the league would mean a surrender of American rights, privileges and sovereignty, the abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine, and a violation of the constitution.

The constitution of the League, he asserted, was conflicting, indefinite and uncertain and the machinery which it proposes to set up "similar to the soviet government of Russia."

"No such colossal burden or entangling alliance was ever before conceived in the world," the senator said. "Instead of being an instrument of peace it is the fertile seed of war—the dragon's tooth from which, when sown, armed soldiers will spring."

Through participation in the drafting of the League's constitution, Senator Poindexter declared the United States had been led to a point where "we are now facing an abyss." If the Senate should ratify the proposed constitution and sanction the entrance of the United States into a league of nations, without submission of the question "to the American people in a political campaign, where it shall have been made the issue and upon which they will have an opportunity to render judgment in a election," he declared, "the self-government in America will have disappeared."

MAY OPPOSE MERGING DESTINIES.

In adopting or rejecting this constitution," said Poindexter, "and thereby becoming or not becoming a member of the league established under it, the government and the people of the United States will determine whether they are to remain the great sovereign and independent nation, a people controlling their own destiny, determining for themselves the extent of their military preparations, the size of their armies and navies, and establishing for themselves their international relations, or whether they are to merge their destinies with those of other nations of the world, sharing their burdens, participating in their quarrels and becoming a party to all international complications."

Referring to the request of President Wilson that the Congress refrain from discussion of the League until he could meet with the foreign affairs committee, Senator Poindexter asserted it was a matter of "too much importance for us to remain altogether silent" and that "no harm can be done by full discussion" of a document of which the world "was purposely kept in entire ignorance" until "it came forth full panoplied, as though born from the head of Jove."

B'nai B'rith Asks Equality for Jews Abroad

MILTON H. SCHWARTZ

Milton A. Schwartz of Oakland Elected Second Grand Vice-President

After a spirited contest in which he defeated David Cohen of San Francisco by a plurality of 35 votes, Milton H. Schwartz, an attorney of this city, was elected second grand vice-president of district grand lodge, No. 4, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith at the closing session of the 56th annual convention in B'nai B'rith hall in San Francisco yesterday afternoon. Maurice Kinkadeen of Los Angeles was the only other candidate and he withdrew before the vote was taken.

Following the report of a committee appointed to take the matter up the lodge gave its endorsement to the resolutions passed by the American Jewish Congress in Philadelphia, December 17, demanding full civil and religious equality for Jews in European and Asiatic countries. The endorsement reads:

"Your special committee to whom was referred the resolution introduced by Brother Harry Cohen on February 17, 1933, begs leave to report as follows: "With slight change in the paragraph thereof, your committee presents herewith the said resolution and asks that it be adopted by this session of the grand lodge and that proper and effective publicity be given thereto. "Whereas, the American Jewish Congress in session at Versailles is committed to the principle of self-determination for the smaller nations and nationalities of the world; and

"Whereas, many pleas have been advanced from all parts of the civilized world in behalf of the Jews, who as an

PACIFIST RAPPED BY IRVIN COBB

Irvin Cobb, humorist, novelist and writer of war articles, was cheered repeatedly by a big audience that heard his lecture last night in the theater of the Oakland Auditorium. Cobb dealt harshly with the pacifist, both those who were opposed to the United States entering the war and those who are advocating such a course as interfering with the present plans to bring about a "safe world."

So great was Cobb's welcome that there has been a demand for him to reappear here, and arrangements have been made for him to repeat his lecture Saturday afternoon in the Auditorium theater.

Cobb is an advocate of preparedness. He urged that this country have an army and navy that will be adequate to cope with any emergency that may arise, either through action of another nation or the necessity of suppressing a menace developed at home of the order of the I. W. W. Cobb said that his experiences in the war zone and in the cities of Europe had taught him many lessons. In part, he said:

"After what I saw on my two visits to the western front I reached the conviction that professional or amateur pacifism is an evil that should be crushed with the whole force of the American people. To be on the watch for it, to raise our voices against it, is a duty imposed on us by citizenship. What I saw abroad also taught me that universal military training for the United States was the sanest and most patriotic doctrine ever preached in this country."

Military Circus to Be Held on Saturday

Plans are practically complete for a military circus, which will be held next Saturday, Washington's birthday, at Chevrolet aviation field on the foot hill boulevard and Sixty-ninth avenue, for the benefit of the new labor temple. Special transportation will be provided by the Southern Pacific and the Oakland Traction Company.

The program will begin at 1 o'clock with military aviators, drills by soldiers from Camp Fremont, music by military bands and singing by Private Smith, known as the greatest tenor in the American army.

On the evening of Washington's birthday a benefit dance will be held at the municipal auditorium. On Sunday the ministers will tell of the benefit to Oakland of the labor temple and all of next week an active downtown drive will be made for funds.

Counterfeit Suspects Held in Sacramento

The mystery of the flood of spurious dollars and gold "fives" that recently swept Oakland may have been solved in the arrest in Sacramento of Frank and Isabelle O'Toole. They were jailed by secret service operatives, who believe they have unearthed a counterfeit campaign in the Sacramento valley. Agents Joe Hillman and Chas. Galling made the arrests.

O'Toole used, according to the secret service agents, as a contractor and operated with coins that were so artistic as to fool experts. The counterfeit coins have been traced in Oakland in connection with recent complaints.

The pair will be brought to San Francisco for examination, according to Chief Harry Moffitt of this district.

Walter Rounsvell, assistant manager of the Hotel Oakland, has made his debut as an artistic model.

In the lobby of the hotel is a very colorful poster, depicting the joys of the Madri Gras, with a very long male dancer whirling in merry mazes. And the face, it's Walter's!

Rounsvell is busy explaining that he really didn't pose; that he's not as long and thin as that picture; that the artist put his face on it for a joke; but still they "kid" him, and that's why he stays away from the vicinity of that very life-like picture.

Manager "Bill" Jurgens swears Rounsvell actually did pose for it—got an afternoon off to do it, in fact, says the manager.

THERE'S NO DOUBT CLAREMONT IS GROWING.

Claremont district will soon be a fitting site for a real school—at least according to the report of Mrs. C. E. Kane, Claremont club worker, to the Board of Education.

Mrs. Kane wanted the school board to put on another teacher at the Claremont school to handle kindergarten classes. Superintendent Hunter told her there was not enough demand; that it needed more children to justify a new teacher.

A month later she came back. "I want to report to the board that we ought to have our school now," she declared. "You see, twins have arrived at the home of one of our members, and two others have little strangers with them now—so we're growing."

"Where do you live—in that district?" asked Chairman Louis Aber of Superintendent Hunter. Hunter said that he didn't.

"Well, then Mr. Hunter's new son does not count for this school," said Aber. "and it's too bad, because you need one more room there to make up the kindergarten complement."

"All right," said Mrs. Kane. "I'll be back to report next month."

If she reports as well every month as she did the first, the board members say they'll have to build a high school or two, and maybe a college in Claremont to accommodate the crowds.

DEDTIME STORY

(By HOWARD H. GARRIS)

One morning there was no milk in the hollow stump bungalow for Uncle Wiggly's carrot coffee, and he had to drink it without. But after breakfast he started to the store to get some condensed milk for the next day's meal.

In Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains, where the animal folk live, the kind of milk that is used comes from the milk-weed plant. You have often seen it in the fields in summer with its purple blossoms.

Well, the animal folk use this milk, and in winter, when there aren't any milk-weeds growing, they use condensed milk, made from the same plant.
They squeeze the milk into empty con-coconut shells, and it keeps all winter, just as well as the condensed milk you buy at the store keeps in cans.

So Uncle Wiggly started to get some of this condensed milk of the milkweed plant, which he could buy at the store in half a coconut shell instead of a tin can.

"Well, what can I do for you this morning, Uncle Wiggly?" asked the storekeeper, rubbing his paws as the bunny rabbit gentleman popped into the store.

"I want condensed milk, if you please,"
said Mr. Longears. "Mrs. Jane forgot to get any, and I had to drink my carrot coffee without milk this morning."

"That was my land," spoke the storekeeper. "Here is a half coconut shell full of the best condensed milk. It will last you very good in your coffee, for it is nice and sweet."

"I'm sure it is," said Uncle Wiggly politely. And then, with the coconut shell full of condensed milk under his paw, the bunny rabbit started to hop back to his hollow stump bungalow.

"I wonder what sort of an adventure
I will have," thought the bunny, as he hopped along. "I hope it will be a nice one."

But it wasn't at all. Just wait until I tell you. All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggly hopped along, he saw a sign that read:

of Inspectors James Drew.
"Jim," he pleads, "just send me out, once more—let me pinch somebody. I'm an old man and I don't get long to live, maybe. Lemme make just one more pinch before I shuttle off. I'll do me a world of good!"

Drew has promised.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

"No doubt," she said, "and Dicky's reply was forestalled by Katie, who rushed into the room with her usual impetuosity, evidently bubbling over with news of some kind."

"Oh, Missis Graham, she don't know and I might as well have tried to stop Niagara as to make her understand that breakfast table with guests presented was no time for her news telling."

"Jim, he jost com from Crest Haven, and dey got crazy man down dere, he got out from 'sylum yesterday, stoie some place, and raise one hell all 'round town all night. Jim he say he shoot windows of pretty near dozen peoples before dey get hem. Jim he say nothing about him shooting here, for he think his neighbors no hear hem, and he say we for don't know about our business won't hurt dem."

WHY MADE FEELS A PREMONITION OF TRAGEDY.

I think even Dicky, who had scowled blackly when Katie rushed in and disrupted our breakfast table discussion of the revelation of the devotion to our interests which she and her husband, Jim, possessed. Her words showed that they naively included themselves in the family and resented any intrusion into our affairs as if they had been their own.

"Tell Jim I'm very much obliged to him, and I'll make it right with him later," Dicky said. "He did exactly right, and here, get yourself some candy." He tossed Katie a bill which she deftly caught. Dicky's invariable formula when tipping Katie is to tell her to get herself some candy.

"If I got all de candy Meester Graham tell me to stop smoking, I wouldn't still under the emotional uplift of her position as exclusive news monger, "I be sweetest thing in all de world."

"Will you bring some more muffins, Katie?" I interrupted quickly. "I think these are getting cold."

She glanced at me contritely, realized, as I meant she should, that her behavior was not exactly the correct thing for a maid serving breakfast to strange guests, and fled to the kitchen.

"That girl comes pretty near to being the limit sometimes," Dicky said, frowning again. "But she is so warm-hearted and so devoted to the character of the house here, that we put up with her. She likes me after a fashion, but I think if Madge told her to chop me up in little pieces and stew me over the end sea, Madge would begin to sharpen the carving knife at once."

"Oh, Dicky, don't say such awful things even in jest!" I protested, for I never can see the humor in the Lillian jokes. My husband sometimes utters things which are really a much-needed article of diet. On account of their sugar content, prunes and raisins have
a higher caloric value than most vegetables and other fruits, and they are therefore especially nutritious for children whose constant activity makes them demand sweets.

Stewed prunes may not appeal to the appetite, but if formed into a prune wholesome. Prune pie or prune patties are delicious and prunes or raisins make an excellent cake filling.

Prune Filling for Layer Cake.
2 cups of cooked prunes
1-2 cup of boiling water
1 cup of sugar
1 egg white
1-2 teaspoonful of vanilla
1-2 cup of cream of tartar

Boil the water and sugar until a drop forms a soft ball when tried in cold water. Then add the cream of tartar
and the vanilla and eat, gradually adding the stiffly beaten white of egg and beating constantly until thick. Finally add the prunes, which have been stoned and cut into small bits and if desired chopped meats from a few of the prunes stoned.

Prune Pie.
2 cups of cooked prunes
1/2 cup of sugar
1 cup of cream of tartar
1-2 cup of boiling water
1-2 cup of cream of tartar
1 lemon
Stick cinnamon

Soak the prunes in the cold water a few hours, then boil in the same water with the stick cinnamon until ten-
der. Remove the pulp from the stones,
mix with the prune juice, boiling water
and sugar. Gradually mix the corn starch and cold water into a smooth paste and cook with the other ingredients for five minutes. Pour the lemon juice, pour into a mold and set aside to get firm. Serve with cream.

Raisin Pie.
1/2 cup of chopped raisins
1/2 cup of cold water
1-2 cup of vinegar
1 cup of brown sugar
1/2 cup of sifted bread crumbs
2 tablespoonfuls of butter

Cook these ingredients together for 10

anger as Dicky bent over Lillian.

I could not help contrasting the absolute indifference with which Harry Underwood had always treated Lillian's words and actions toward Dicky or other men of her acquaintance, with the evident jealousy with which this man, who as yet had no shadow of claim upon her, was regarding her.

But if I was surprised at Robert Savarin's attitude, what was my astonishment to see Lillian, whose usual method of reply to Dicky's teasing would have been a playful snarl, grow suddenly dignified and draw away from him as she replied with the faintest touch of hauteur in her tones:

"Dicky, I am afraid I'm still of

PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

It isn't in the things you own
Which you must keep and use alone;
It isn't in the goals you claim,
Nor is it in a selfish fame;
It can't be found upon a shelf;
You cannot seek for joy itself
And separate it from the things
Which life to every mortal brings.

No man can properly express
Just what is human happiness.
Had you the wealth of every mine,
And every gift and talent fine,
Of all the sages wise and gray,
You could not give one single day
Alone to seek for happiness
With any hope of real success.

Who longs for happiness must learn
That it is something he must earn—
Not by a selfish-seeking way,
But by his toil from day to day.
It comes from duty bravely done,
From struggles hard and carrying on,
From standing firm and being true;
It comes from everything men do.

No man can happy be, unless
He helps another in distress.
There is no single road to bliss;
Who seeks for it, the way will miss.
Who makes his happiness his goal
Will always have a troubled soul.
Who would be happy, first must plan
To bear the burdens of a man.

Kitchen Economies

by Isabel Brands

The prune has become the symbol thanks to the humorists—of plebeian cooking and boarding house deserts.
But let's not regard it too scornfully,
for prunes are really a much-needed article of diet. On account of their sugar content, prunes and raisins have
a higher caloric value than most vegetables and other fruits, and they are
therefore especially nutritious for children whose constant activity makes them demand sweets.

Stewed prunes may not appeal to the
appetite, but if formed into a prune wholesome. Prune pie or prune patties
are delicious and prunes or raisins make
an excellent cake filling.

Prune Filling for Layer Cake.
2 cups of cooked prunes
1-2 cup of boiling water
1 cup of sugar
1 egg white
1-2 teaspoonful of vanilla
1-2 cup of cream of tartar

Boil the water and sugar until a drop
forms a soft ball when tried in cold water. Then add the cream of tartar
and the vanilla and eat, gradually adding the stiffly beaten white of egg and beating constantly until thick. Finally add the prunes, which have been stoned and cut into small bits and if desired chopped meats from a few of the prunes stoned.

Prune Pie.
2 cups of cooked prunes
1/2 cup of sugar
1 cup of cream of tartar
1-2 cup of boiling water
1-2 cup of cream of tartar
1 lemon
Stick cinnamon

Soak the prunes in the cold water a
few hours, then boil in the same
water with the stick cinnamon until ten-
der. Remove the pulp from the stones,
mix with the prune juice, boiling water
and sugar. Gradually mix the corn
starch and cold water into a smooth
paste and cook with the other ingredients for five minutes. Pour the lemon juice, pour into a mold and set aside to get firm. Serve with cream.

Raisin Pie.
1/2 cup of chopped raisins
1/2 cup of cold water
1-2 cup of vinegar
1 cup of brown sugar
1/2 cup of sifted bread crumbs
2 tablespoonfuls of butter

Cook these ingredients together for 10 minutes, then set aside to cool. Over the crust in pie plate and bake for 40 minutes. This may be finished with a meringue or a top crust as preferred.

Raisin Filling.
1 cup of seeded raisins
1/2 cup of chopped nuts
1/2 cup of brown sugar
1/2 cup of cold water

Chop the raisins well and boil with the sugar and water for 10 minutes. Stir constantly, then set aside to cool and add the chopped nuts just before sufficiently cool. Then spread on cake.

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Will the sleeveless coat be worn again this summer? That is the breathless question.

The brilliantly colored silk sports coats, the duller wool jersey jackets, and the knitted sweater that scooped sleeves become so popular last year, and women appreciated the "just-enough" value of these garments to such an extent that they will be a feature in the feminine wardrobe in the summer of 1919.

Silk poplin is far and away one of the loveliest fabrics for developing these coats. Tricotee is also an ideal choice, because the weave of both these materials has sufficient weight to make the jacket "tailor" well.

Heavy sports silks, produced by American manufacturers in the rough weaves, for which we used to look to China and Japan, are found on the counters in the many wonderful shades of rose, raspberry, American Beauty, robins' egg, peacock and Joffre blue, ocho, orange and pale canary, with many shades of green, and that tan which is now called "camel," because it is like the natural color of camel's hair wool.

Georgette crepe, heavily embroidered in beads, or charmesse satin, faced with a contrasting color or chiffon or georgette are used for these dressy coats, which are really a part of frocks of light silk, chiffon, crepe or thinnest cotton, such as batiste. Lingerie dresses look particularly lovely with these dressy coats in delicate pink or blue or in brilliant shades of rose or cerise.
Dresses of white wool, such as merino, broadcloth and flannel are being made up in combination with coats of vividly colored flannel or silk.

An interesting model showing a sleeveless coat of American Beauty silk poplin is worn with a long-waisted middy blouse that looks like a vest, where the blouse shows in front.
The sleeveless coat is cut very straight with only a slight suggestion of a curve at the waistline. The back falls loosely. This coat is faced with old blue

Lucrezia Bori on BEAUTY.

Grayness of the hair isn't necessarily a sign of disease or even of age. Sometimes this tendency to become gray is due to "heredity," as it is commonly expressed. It is certainly true that some families have a greater tendency to premature grayness than others.

Gray hair isn't necessarily a drawback to beauty, but it does make a woman look older, and robs her of that freshness which we associate with youth.

Therefore, when it is possible to overcome this tendency by natural preventives, a woman should certainly employ them.

Massage that will stimulate the circulation of your blood in the roots of your hair and throughout your scalp is of great benefit in keeping and in restoring the color if your hair is inclined to turn gray prematurely.

ONE HELPFUL AID.
A stimulating hair tonic should be used in conjunction with this massage.

A lotion which is commended highly for checking premature grayness is made of the following ingredients:

Sulphate of iron..... 1 dram
Sulphate of copper..... 1/2 dram
Tincture acetate of iron..... 1 ounce
Tincture of rosemary..... 4 drams
Extract of thyme..... 4 drams
Rectified spirits..... 1 ounce
Glycerine..... 1 ounce
Essence of water..... 1/2 pint

Add the iron to the spirits, the glycerine to the extracts and the tincture and the sulphate to the perfume water, agitate till well mingled and incorporated. Then add the first mixture to the second, and finally unite these with the third.

Apply this lotion to your scalp with small bits of absorbent cotton.
In using a hair tonic it is well to pour a small amount into a saucer and to work with this until it is exhausted, adding a new supply from the bottle as needed. In this way you will not waste it or in any way contaminate the supply in the bottle by reworking the bits of absorbent cotton.

An egg shampoo that consists of thoroughly rubbing both the yolk and the whites of two eggs into the scalp and afterward rinsing with warm water is an excellent tonic for hair inclined to turn gray. The yolk of the egg helps to supply the iron needed by the color pigment of the hair.

OTHER SIMPLE WAYS.
Another lotion which is said to aid in restoring color to hair which is fading or becoming gray through illness or mental exhaustion is made as follows:

Tincture of jalapin..... 1 ounce
Water..... 1 pint
Glycerine..... 1/2 ounce
Sulphate of potassium..... 5 grains

Mix the ingredients well and leave the bottle uncorked to let the disagreeable odor of the potassium pass off. Afterward perfume the mixture with a few drops of oil of lavender and oil of cloves.

Rub a little of this tonic daily into your scalp with the tips of your fingers, using a dry cotton mop or brush careful to let no part of your scalp escape
this stimulating rub.

Sunning your hair will help to prevent grayness. This should be indulged in at least once a week. The sun's rays are a wonderful hair tonic. When the weather permits, sit out of doors with your hair hanging loosely. Change your position occasionally so that the top, the sides and the back of your hair may be penetrated by the warm glow of the sun.

To have the sun reach the back of your hair successfully it is necessary to throw your hair forward over your face and to let your neck, and forward so that the under portion of your hair may be thoroughly reached and warmed by the sun.

If the weather is too cold to let outdoors sit in the sun beside a window.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

One acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste as you will be a real master in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water, also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

OAKLAND LOW IN FOOD COST LIST FOR U.S.

Oakland stands third from lowest in food cost among twenty-seven leading cities of the United States, according to figures gathered at the instance of the California Manufacturers' Association and other bodies of manufacturers in all parts of the country, according to Fred Boegle Jr., secretary of the association. This matter was investigated in order to determine the increasing extent to which the cost of living is being accepted as one of the chief bases of wage adjustment.

Taking the average food cost for the entire United States as 100, Oakland's cost would be 81.58. Efforts are to be made to increase food production so the cost of food may be still further reduced.

Food cost at Providence, R. I., which is listed at 115.02, is higher than that of any other city in the list, while Denver, Col., with 80.50 is lowest. The figures for the several cities, using 100 as a basis, are: Denver, 80.50; Portland, Ore., 81.10; Oakland, 81.43; Seattle, 82.72; Minneapolis, 88.53; Butte, 89.36; Chicago, 94.20; St. Louis, 95.14; Cincinnati, 95.25; Indianapolis, 95.73; Buffalo, 95.74; Cleveland, 98.02; Detroit, 99.30; New Orleans, 101.34; Memphis, 102.14; Pittsburgh, 104.36; Baltimore, 104.72; New York, 104.89; Philadelphia, 105.76; Atlanta, 105.84; Birmingham, 106.09; Bridgeport, 108.22; Manchester, N. H., 108.84; Washington, D. C., 109.25; Boston, 111.43; New Haven, 112.60; Providence, 115.02.

FAMOUS AUTHOR IS GUEST HERE

Joseph Marvont of Detroit, Mich., an uncle of Joseph Marvont, senior member of the Oakland firm of Marvont & Upmish, has written a work from Jewish history dealing with one of the most notable and colorful romances of the ancient kingdom of Judah, which critics say will rank with Henry's "Sandro" and General Wallace's "Ben Hur." Marvont is now a visitor in Oakland, the guest of his nephew.

"The Sorrows of Norma," a translation of Abraham Marvont's Hebrew classic, "Ahabat Zion," is the work that has just been completed by Marvont. It is likely that it will receive an elaborate film presentation here, as it is offered to the public in book form. Representatives of the Fox Film corporation who had heard of Marvont's work asked him to let them read the manuscript and Marvont, in passing through Los Angeles, left it with them. Scenes of magnificent splendor that take one through three great wars of the days preceding the fall of Babylon; a picture of the Temple of Solomon and the mountains of Lebanon, all interwoven with a tremendously human story of love and intrigue, rivaled by a strong dramatic atmosphere make the story one particularly adapted to a powerful film spectacle.

STORY IS CLASSIC. In the Hebrew language the story of Norma and her many sorrows has long been a classic. It has never before been translated into English. In fact, to the knowledge of Marvont there is a version of it in but one other language.

The opening of the story is laid in the days of King Achaz, ruler of Judah about 100 years before the fall of the city, or about 200 years before Christ.

The intrigue that follows upon the marriage of General Joram of the Jewish army to Hazea, who had also been promised to Mattan, son of a ruler, is the basis of the plot. Joram becomes a captive of the Assyrians and Mattan reaps a terrible revenge. He causes the house of Hazea, with Hazea, her child and two servants, to be burned and conspires to have the crime fastened upon Norma, the other wife of Joram. Norma is accused of having burned the house because of jealousy against Hazea, and is compelled to flee. A babe belonging to one of the servants of Hazea is saved from the flames and is passed off as the son of Hazea.

ROMANCE POWERFUL. Jedidiah, minister of finance, has promised his daughter in marriage to the son of General Joram. How this daughter, who grows up to be the son of the servant of Hazea, who is supposed to be the son of Joram, and falls in love with Joram's other son by Norma, the fugitive, is pretty told. This son is named Mattan, son of a ruler, is the birth of his birth he is reared as a shepherd. He is singing to his flock and weaving garlands when the beautiful young daughter of the minister of finance meets him.

This is but the beginning of a tremendous story that leads to the thrones of mighty kings and deals with the fall of kingdoms.

Marvont, who is 75 years old, is a retired businessman of Detroit. He came to the United States when 46 years old. The fact that he began to study the English language when he was 25 years old makes the choice of this work all the more remarkable. Marvont was educated in theology in Poland, but later decided to enter the literary field. He is a master of Hebrew, Polish, Italian, Russian, German and English, and can translate any one of these languages into the other at sight.

Marvont is on his way to Honolulu. He will visit Havana and Cuba before his return to Detroit.

French Army Band Coming to Oakland

In order to strengthen the "concert cordials" between the two countries France is sending to America her most talented military musical organization, the French Army Band.

It was feared at first that it would not reach the Pacific coast, but so enthusiastic was its reception that the French government has granted the members an extension which will permit them to appear in the Auditorium on the evening of February 27, and at the Greek theater on the afternoon of March 1.

These men, many of them decorated with wound stripes and the Croix du Guerre, are under the direction of Captain Fernand Pollain, whose reputation as an artist was established before the war.

Army Band Composed of Heroes in Battle

Every member of the French Army band is a musician of the highest caliber as will be demonstrated at the Oakland auditorium February 27.

What one does not know unless one is told—for they do not speak about it—is that practically every member of that French army band is a hero. Within the past two years those same men who will play for us have been mentioned in army orders scores of times. They have been cited for courage and won medals, they wear stripes and service stripes, and have battled for France, not as musicians, but as soldiers. Headed by Captain Fernand Pollain, whose military orders many of them have taken in the field, the band was brought to America to aid in war work at the behest of the French government, and the band is unique in that there is not a man in it who has not been in active defense of his country, and who has not, before the war won a prize at the Paris Conservatory as soloist of his own instrument. Captain Pollain himself has been decorated several times for conspicuous bravery at the front.

FIVE JURORS EXONERATE GIRL SLAYER

The ordeal of the coroner's inquest over Anna Barbe, candy-store girl and accused slayer of Ralph Page or Ralph Maloney, will face her next legal ordeal Tuesday, when, in the court of Police Judge George Samuels she will be given preliminary examination.

Whether she will take the stand in her own defense then or not her attorney, Phil Carey, has not decided. At the coroner's inquest last evening Carey did not permit her to tell her own story. Five of the jurors exonerated the girl in their verdict and two others gave no opinion.

"Do you wish to testify in this case?" asked Coroner Grant Miller of the girl. The defendant, heavily veiled, answered that she "did not care to take the stand at this time." The inquest brought out the identity of Maloney fully, when his father, George E. Maloney, of San Francisco, told of his son's antecedents and habits. He said that Maloney alternated in the use of the name Page and Maloney, Page being his mother's family name. The dead man's father was unable to explain why this was done. He said he last saw his son alive some

TELEPHONE GIRL STAYS AT POST IN HOTEL FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Mrs. Alice Potter, telephone operator, is the heroine of the fire that spread through the lower floors of the Plaza hotel yesterday, driving guests into the streets and doing $3,000 worth of damage. Through stifling smoke she stuck to her switchboard, warned guests and directed them how to escape. She donned a gauze mask. Victor S. Marks, an engineer, was overcome by smoke. The fire spread from the basement to some rooms on the second floor.

Leaves for Texas to Get Burglar Suspect

Deputy Sheriff Al Smith is today on his way to Port Worth, Texas, to return Dean Haralson, charged with having entered and robbed a tailor shop in Berkeley. After committing the alleged burglary Haralson is said to have signed up for military duty and to have been sent to Texas. He is being held by the federal authorities.

The girl's story was told at the inquest by Detective William Kyle, who recounted in detail the story of the shooting, as told him by the girl, and of her accounts of former relations with the dead man. Captain James T. Drew supplemented this report.

WEDDING OF DR. BRACKETT UNDER PROBE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Investigation by federal authorities of the recent wedding in Sacramento of Dr. George B. Brackett, who became involved in divers troubles as the result of his connection with the city hospital force, and his treatment of women sent there by the federal government, is the latest development in connection with the numerous phases of the situation thus created. Dr. Brackett, who recently was accused by the mother of a girl working in the hospital of contributing to the girl's delinquency, was married on Lincoln's birthday to his office nurse, Elizabeth Evelyn Cain.

The federal grand jury returned another indictment late yesterday against Attorney A. S. Newburgh and Dr. Charles Schwartz, charging them with conspiring with Belle Davis, Ruth Gardner, Edith Jackson, Abe Kohn and Mitchell Korich to bribe Dr. Brackett to make false reports to the United States District Court in regard to the physical condition of federal prisoners.

A similar indictment was dismissed on demurrer by Federal Judge M. T. Loevinger a few weeks ago when the court held that the indictment did not state that Dr. Brackett was a federal employee.

MAY MODIFY PROVISIONS IN PARR LEASE

That a legal technicality may prevent a change in the lease of the Parr Terminal Company unless the company first begins shipyard construction, was the line thrown out yesterday by the city attorney at the meeting of the joint committee of nine appointed at a recent meeting of the laws and legislation and harbor development committees of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to consider the matter.

The committee in question comprises George C. Pardee, chairman; Joseph R. Knowland, City Attorney H. L. Hagan, W. W. Chapin, Russell Lowry, D. D. O'Connell, Dr. Walter B. Cole, E. M. Dennis and Rufus P. Jennings. After considerable discussion at the meeting yesterday over the application made by the Parr Terminal Company to the city council for various changes in the lease so as to permit the lessee to use certain portions of the property for terminal purposes instead of devoting the same to shipyards, as originally planned, the matter was referred to a committee comprising George C. Pardee, Fred D. Parr and Commissioner Frederick Soderberg.

MAY MEET OBJECTIONS. This committee will attempt to modify the provisions of the lease so as to meet the objections of Soderberg. It is expected that the committee will meet again tomorrow to consider the objections of Soderberg. It is expected that the committee will meet again tomorrow to consider the objections of Soderberg.

In explaining the technicality which he thought might block changes in the lease of the Parr Terminal Company, City Attorney Hagan quoted clause 16 of the lease, which he believes makes it impossible for the company to begin shipyard construction before the council can legally alter the terms of the lease. The clause reads:

"From and after the completion of the construction of the improvements hereinbefore mentioned or provided for, the lessee shall in good faith and continuously operate said terminal, coal depot and shipyard during the term of this lease (unless the council of the city of Oakland shall by ordinance authorize a different use to be made of that portion of the leased premises, which is hereby leased for the purpose of a shipyard), and shall in good faith endeavor to conduct and operate said terminal, coal depot and shipyard to full capacity consistent with good business and demand."

Resolutions endorsing the proposed change in the lease of the Parr Terminal Company were passed by the Oakland Real Estate Board at a meeting held last night. They read:

"Whereas, the Parr Terminal Com-

JACK PICKFORD, motion picture man, who aided in ex- posure of alleged navy graft.

pany has applied to the municipal authorities of the City of Oakland for a permit to use certain Key Basin waterfront lands, termed in said lease as "Parcel No. 2," to permit thereon development of a commercial wharf instead of a ship building plant, as now provided for in said lease; and

"Whereas, it is the opinion of members of this organization that the development and operation of a commercial wharf in the Key Basin would be of benefit to this community rather than that of a shipbuilding plant; and

"Whereas, it is the opinion of the members of this organization that the terms of the lease under which said Parr Terminal Company now holds a certain other area of land termed 'Parcel No. 1' are so drawn as not to specify clearly and definitely the character and extent and date of completion of improvements and development to be made on said area; now, therefore be it

"Resolved, By the members of the Oakland Real Estate Board that this organization does earnestly recommend to the municipal authorities of the City of Oakland that the request of the Parr Terminal Company above mentioned be granted; and that such revision be made coincident with and dependent upon a revision of the terms of the lease of 'Parcel No. 1' in such a manner that both leases when again in force shall state definitely, the proposals of the lessee as to character and extent of development, sums of money to be expended therefor, dates before which completion shall be effected of various development projects involved and shall contain reasonable covenants and a cancellation clause returning the lands to the city in case the lessee fails in any of its obligations."

FAVOR SAFEGUARDS.

The Civic Association, composed of improvement club delegates, holds that certain stipulations and safeguards should be included in the lease, its notice to the city council being as follows:

"February 18, 1934.

"To the Honorable City Council of the City of Oakland.

"Gentlemen—I beg to advise you that at a special meeting of the Civic Association of Alameda County there was passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, The lease by the City of Oakland to the Parr-McCormick Terminal Company of a large area of valuable property in the Key Route basin, which is the most valuable waterfront area property under control of the city, entirely lacks definite obligation by the lessee as to the character, detail as to general plan and material, and time within which a system of dock wharves and warehouses shall be completed and in operation, or the rate of investment per annum and progress of construction which shall be maintained and sustained by proper forfeiture clause in case of failure; and

"Whereas, The holding of such a lease, without such definite guarantees as to occupancy and use, constitutes an adverse holding of said valuable city property for a term of years on mere speculation under guise of a leasehold; and

"Whereas, It is now proposed to extend the speculative holding by the Parr-McCormick Terminal Company to parcel No. 2 by amendment of its lease to said parcel giving carte blanche to said lessee as to development of said parcel No. 2; now therefore be it

"Resolved, By the Civic Association of Alameda County that it protest to the City Council of the City of Oakland against any amendment of the lease conditions as to the entire lease holdings of the Parr-McCormick Terminal Company on the Key Route shall be so revised as to provide a proper restriction to parcel No. 2 and to include definite obligation by the lessee as to the particular character, specification as to general plan and material to be employed and time within which a system of dock wharves and warehouses shall be completed and in operation, or the rate of investment per annum and progress of construction on the general plan which shall be maintained and sustained by proper forfeiture clause in case of failure by lessee to meet the declared obligations; and be it further

"Resolved, That failure to include such conditions of development as a part of the consideration in said lease moving from said lessee to the City of Oakland is not only inconsistent with the terms of covenants exercised in trust by the City of Oakland, but is plainly against the public interest."

"Very truly yours,

"GEORGE INGRAM, Secretary.

Autoist Tells Story

of Hold-Up Attempt

Robert Frietas, 307 Forty-seventh street, is in the Emeryville jail, awaiting investigation, as the result of an alleged battle with E. C. Corey in a speeding automobile on San Pablo avenue late last night. According to Corey, the other man tried to hold him up, jumping on his automobile and menacing him with a pistol. As the auto sped down San Pablo avenue toward Oakland, he says, they struck small J. T. Hickey, Emeryville policeman, stopped them and took Frietas into custody.

Corey, who lives at Stone Junction, says he was driving to Oakland, and the Frietas jumped in his car at San Pablo avenue and Forty-seventh street. Frietas says he is a shipyard worker recently discharged from the army.

TWO OFFICERS OF NAVY FACE GRAFT TRIALS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Trial by courtmartial of two naval officers in connection with charges of bribery and graft in the Third Naval District have been ordered by Secretary Daniels.

It was announced today that sufficient evidence had been submitted this morning in a preliminary report by investigators to warrant these trials immediately. Secretary Daniels said that at least two other cases were developing.

No names were made public, but it was learned that one case involved the acceptance by a naval medical officer of a bribe of $1,000 for passing an applicant who was not physically qualified for the duties he sought, and another case involved a bribe of $500 to secure a detail which would permit the applicant to remain at home indefinitely.

Daniels said there was no evidence of similar conditions in other districts or stations and that he personally believed the extent of the irregularities in that third district, which has headquarters at New York, had been greatly exaggerated in unofficial reports. He stated that the department would search the matter to the bottom, and as soon as circumstances warranted would give every detail to the public.

The former medical examiner's arrest, it was said, was the result of the work of Joseph Whitehead, a member of the naval intelligence department, who was formerly stationed at Boston. Whitehead is the son of Mrs. Kelly Evans, a wealthy New Yorker, who formerly lived in Atlanta, Ga.

Feeling rumors that the lieutenant would arrange transfers "for a price," Whitehead is said to have approached him and applied for transfer for himself and for Jack Pickford, the motion picture actor, who was a friend of Whitehead's.

A conference was arranged at a hotel and naval intelligence department operatives recorded Whitehead's dictation with the officer by the name of dictagraphs. After the conference the officer was arrested and $500 in marked bills, which had been handed to him by Whitehead, were taken from his pocket.

RHEUMATISM CAN BE DRIVEN FROM VICTIM'S SYSTEM

This Michigan Man Gains Relief Through Blood Builder After Six Years' Illness.

The poisons which cause rheumatism are in the blood. Until the blood has been rebuilt to a condition where it can master and destroy these poisons, there is no chance of freeing the pain-tortured victim from the grip of disease.

Thousands of dollars are spent annually by rheumatism patients in treating the symptoms. Often their efforts are temporarily successful, but in most cases the disease returns with increased vigor. It is absolutely true that before any permanent benefits can be achieved the blood must be built up.

Mr. Clyde J. Salee of No. 217 East Kalamazoo avenue, Kalamazoo, Mich., is a living example of the success of this treatment. He is a strong believer in the effectiveness of the tonic by which he regained his health and happiness. In describing his experience he says:

"Exposure brought on rheumatic attacks six years ago and I suffered almost continuously. The disease became so severe at times that I was forced to spend weeks in bed. Muscles all over my body ached and pained and when the pain left me for a time I was sore and stiff. My back ached and my joints became so inflamed that I couldn't sleep. My stomach was badly disordered and at times my hands and feet were so numb that it seemed as though they were asleep."

"I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills two months ago and decided to give them a trial, though with little faith in their power. I noticed an improvement after the first box and after taking two boxes the pain had disappeared so that I could sleep through the night without interruption. I felt like a new man now for I am rested after a night's sleep. My ankles which used to swell so that I couldn't put on my shoes, are normal again and the inflammation of the joints has disappeared. I have recommended the remedy to some of my friends who have rheumatism."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. They are justly regarded as peculiarly adapted to building up the health after a siege of grip.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for a free copy of our blood book with a special chapter on rheumatism—Advertisement.

Don't Torture Your Child!

TO MOTHERS! See your little one's terror at the very thought of a dose of castor oil, mineral oil, calomel or pills. Ugh! Cascarets "work" better, safer, surer on the tender little liver, stomach and bowels, besides Cascarets taste like candy. Even bilious, constipated, sick kiddies coax for this harmless candy cathartic.

Each 10 cent box of Cascarets, the pleasant candy cathartic, contain directions and dosage for children aged one year old and upwards. When the little one's tongue turns white, breath feverish, stomach sour, there's nothing better to "work" the nasty bile, souring food and constipation poison from the child's system. Give Cascarets, then never worry.—Advertisement.

Divide Stocks

About a month ago Tonopah Divide stock was selling at $1.35 per share. On Monday last, sales of this stock were made on the San Francisco Stock Exchange at $3.90. Within the next three weeks it is expected that the Tonopah Divide will develop on its bottom level the downward extension of its present large ore body exposed above, in which event the price of this stock may double.

On January 21st shares of the Brounger Divide sold on the San Francisco Stock Exchange at 17c. On Monday last, sales of this stock were made at 50c. It is likely that within a short time developments of ore will occur in this property which will double the price of this stock.

The splendid profits in these stocks, in my opinion, indicate a strong probability that other properties in the district, particularly those which are just being placed on the market, are likely to afford an opportunity for very profitable investment.

I have been allotted, for a limited time, a small block of the treasury stock of the

Sutherland Divide

TO BE SOLD AT 12½c PER SHARE

Many stockholders of the Tonopah Divide, being more conversant with the great possibilities of the Divide district, bought practically the entire first issue of the Sutherland Divide, which was largely over-subscribed.

This Is Your Chance

The property consists of six full claims and a fraction, and has a 400-foot incline shaft on the vein; also a vertical shaft approximately 100 feet in depth. The Sutherland is one of the oldest producers in the new Divide section, having shipped gold-silver ore before the discovery of Goldfield. The property is well located in the Divide District. The officers of the company are Hon. C. R. Evans (Member of Congress-elect), President; Jos. B. Kendall (late General Supt. Goldfield Consolidated Mines Company), Vice-President and General Manager; and F. B. Meckling (District Manager Nevada-California Power Company), Secretary and Treasurer. Mining work is now in progress on the property, and a plant for a vigorous and extensive operation is about to be installed. Sutherland stock will soon be listed on the San Francisco Stock Exchange and Eastern Curb.

On Monday last trading on the San Francisco Exchange reflected a decided increased public interest in all Divide stocks.

I predict a broad and active market in these issues and urge that you take advantage of the present low price of

as the next, and probably last, offering of treasury stock will be at higher prices. Out of town clients may telegraph subscriptions at my expense. Remit in full by bank draft, certified check, express or postal money order.

Hoover Charges Packing Menace Federal Ownership Is Opposed Would Take Yards From Packers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A confidential report made to President Wilson by Herbert C. Hoover six months ago on the big meat packers was made public today by the food administration at the direction of the president "to establish the real position of Mr. Hoover and the food administration on the control of the Chicago packing industries." In recent hearings before congressional committees witnesses for the livestock men charged collusion between Mr. Hoover and the five leading packers.

In the report, in response to a request from the president for his views on the recommendations of the federal trade commission, Mr. Hoover said he reaffirmed his opinion given nearly a year before that "there is growing and dangerous domination of the nation's food-stuffs," and approved some of the commission's proposals. He recommended constructive regulation rather than stretching temporary powers of the government, and expressed the belief that the domination of the packers did not necessarily imply wrong doing on their part, but was the natural growth of "various factors which need correction."

URGES STOCKYARD DIVORCE FROM PACKERS

Mr. Hoover accepted an economically sound federal trade commission recommendation regarding the federal control of animal and refrigerator car service, and said stockyards should be "entirely dissociated from the control of the packers." He contended, however, that wrong practices between buyers and sellers would not be corrected by the government controlling or owning yards.

His own instinct, Mr. Hoover, said, was against federal ownership of the packers' branch houses and cold storage and warehouse facilities. Going into aspects of the packing industry not covered by the trade commission, he said:

MUNICIPAL HELP SUGGESTED HIS REMEDY

"If proper authorities could be extended near the larger towns, possibly with municipal help and the operations therein protected from illegitimate competition, I believe they would not only succeed, but would greatly stimulate the local production of meat animals. One effect would be a great stabilization of prices by a wider based market than that now so largely dependent upon a small group of buyers."

The report to the president follows: "11 September, 1918. 'Dear Mr. President: In response to your request, I have set out my observations on the recommendations of the federal trade commission, with regard to the five large packing firms."

"I scarcely need to repeat the views I have expressed to you nearly a year ago that there is here a growing and dangerous domination of the handling of the nation's food-stuffs."

"It does not feel that appreciation of this domination of necessity implies wrong doing on the part of the packers, but is the natural outgrowth of various factors which need correction."

"It is a matter of great contention as to whether these five firms compete amongst themselves, and the records of our courts and public bodies are monuments to this contention."

"As to the stock yards, I am in agreement that they should be entirely dissociated from the control of the packers. A distinction must be drawn between the stock yards as a physical market place and the buying and selling conducted therein. In the first sense, the complaints largely center around the exclusion, not of buyers and sellers, but of the prevention of competitors from establishing packing plants either upon lands of the yards, or of obtaining track and other connections therewith. The solution of this problem in permanent form will also depend upon the ultimate solution of the railway problem. If the government should acquire the railways, it would appear to me that it should, as a part of the system, acquire the yards."

"If the government returns the railways to their owners, it would appear to me that these ends could be accomplished by appropriate regulation under the interstate commerce commission, and this should be done as interim. As to the wrong practices between buyers and sellers, these would not be corrected by the government owning or controlling the physical yards, they are, in fact, now under war regulation by the department of agriculture."

"As to the recommendation that the federal government should at once take over the packers' branch houses, cold storage and warehouse facilities, I find much difficulty. I do not assume that the trade commission contemplates the government entering upon the purchase and sale of meat and groceries at these establishments. Nor does it appear to me that the individual separate and scattered branch houses of the packers furnish any proper physical basis for free trading wholesale markets."

"The principal issue seems to be whether or not there is a monopoly and I believe it was clearly demonstrated at these hearings that the large packers are in active competition with each other. There are absolutely no agreements among the five largest packers to control prices, and they together handle less than 40 per cent of the meat supply of the country. The largest company handles only about 12 per cent of the total meat supply and less than 25 per cent of even the output of houses that are under United States inspection.

"There are about 270 packing concerns, besides those operated by the five largest, that are under federal inspection and hundreds of local houses that are not subject to inspection. In large cities have packing houses that compete directly with the five largest. Some of their representatives appeared at the hearings in Washington and stated that they were prospering, and that there was fair and open competition in the industry."

EARLIER STATEMENTS. "I have publicly stated that we have no serious objection to being relieved of our interest in refrigerator cars and stock yards. But we have pointed out that it is decidedly questionable whether any efficiency or benefit can be gained by such procedure. We would also call attention to the fact that during the recent hearings, no evils needing correction, have been brought to light in connection with packer ownership of these facilities."

"I quite agree with Mr. Hoover that there is no reason for the government to take over the branch houses of the packers, but I do not feel that sufficient consideration has been given to the question of handling other products than meat. Swift & Company handles only a few such products, and they are distinctly related to our business, either as by-products of the packing houses, or as goods which can be economically handled through our extensive distributing organization."

"I hardly think that the government should assume authority to dictate what products any business concern may or may not handle. There is not only no need for such a step in connection with the packing business, but it would act as a dangerous precedent which might be extended to all other industries."

"It is a little difficult for me to reconcile Mr. Hoover's criticism of the fact that the large packers have eliminated middlemen and gone direct to the retailers with the general opinion that marketing should be as direct as possible from producer to consumer. I think it will be conceded that if we have eliminated unnecessary middlemen this has been to the advantage of the public at large."

"Since there is no monopoly, the facts do not justify the statement that 'as time goes on this efficiency cannot fail to diminish, and we shall rely on the begin to defend itself by repression rather than by efficiency.' As long as there is no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a better substitute for calomel."

"It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not savorate. Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless. Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. PASSES 20 BAD CHECKS, CHARGE

Accused of passing more than twenty checks drawn on the Sunset Lumber Company, and declared by the banks to be forgeries, Harry Farley, alias Ellis, is under arrest after a chase of several months.

When the "Sunset" checks began to be frequent about small stores in the city, the police should attempt to catch him. As the result of the McSorley trap Farley was picked up by Corporal John Macey when he visited the Harry M. Eames drug store at 901 East Fourteenth street. Among the checks he is alleged to have passed are those on Mrs. S. King, owner of a small store in the annexed district, H. S. Olsen, and others. He is being held for investigation.

S. F. Rotarians Will Entertain at Rally

Instead of holding its regular luncheon tomorrow, according to usual custom, the Oakland Rotary Club will hold a meeting in the ball room of the Hotel Oakland tomorrow evening at 6:15. The event has been termed "San Francisco night," and 250 Rotarians from across the bay are expected to attend and have charge of the meeting. Besides a big main event, the nature of which has not been announced, there will be amusing stunts and good music. A rousing dance will follow the main event.

The large packers have to use their utmost efforts in competition with each other and with hundreds of smaller concerns to earn their profits of only two or three cents on each dollar of sales. There is no room for a falling off in efficiency.

"However, I welcome such sincere and disinterested views as those expressed by Mr. Hoover. The public and our legislators need to understand our business much more thoroughly than they do now, before they are in a position to undertake restrictive regulation. Swift & Company has voluntarily appeared before congressional committees to give such information as is desired. We have nothing to conceal. All we want is an opportunity to get the facts before the public, and when this has been accomplished, we shall rely on the sense of fair play of the American people, and shall abide by their verdict."

School Children Hit by Auto; One Is Dead

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Three school children were run down by automobiles yesterday, one was killed and the others may die. Joseph B. Gilbert, Jr., six years old, son of a local undertaker, was struck while crossing Scott street near the Golden Gate school. He died in the afternoon from a fractured skull.

Nine-year-old Bernard Wells and 15-year-old Ethel Clark were run down on Van Ness avenue. Wells was struck while crossing Eddy street and suffered a fractured skull and probable internal injuries. Ethel Clark was crossing Turk street. She may have internal injuries.

Paris En Fete, Says French Ambassador

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Paris has celebrated on continuous Mardi Gras since the signing of the armistice, according to Edmond Bapst, newly appointed French ambassador to Japan, here on his way to Tokyo. "Private families are eager to entertain the American soldiers, who are most popular of all the cosmopolitan military now in the city," he said. "Even those who cannot speak English secure interpreters to aid them in entertaining their guests. The city is humming with bunting and streets are filled with people who have never stopped celebrating the coming of peace."

Ambassador Bapst was minister to Norway before his present appointment. He will leave for Tokyo on the Nanking next Saturday.

Burglar Suspect Is Captured With Sack

Joe Garcia, a laborer, is under arrest as a burglar suspect and is being held for investigation following his discovery last night in the office of the Reliance Planning Mill. According to the police he was found in the office with a sack and had handled the door of the safe.

OAKLAND'S STORE THAT UNDERSELLS

There are many reasons why WE can cut prices, one is the tremendous buying power afforded us by our connection with one of the strongest mercantile organizations on the Coast; another is location, which in our case means low rent; another is our willingness to sell on small margin of profit. Three good reasons why we CAN and DO sell good, clean, staple merchandise cheaper than any other store in Oakland.

DEPENDABLE DENTISTRY
(Established 1896)

Practice Makes Habit

Fear is the rock on which we split. When we are fearful our judgment is unreliable.

Picture in your mind the health you would like to possess. Indelibly imprint on your mind the able, earnest, useful person you will be when you obtain this desired health, with its resplendent vigor. With this correct mental attitude you will possess courage, frankness and good cheer. Then all you will have to think about is how you are going to get it.

Get the habit of seeing a competent dentist at least every six months. If you continue this habit it will become second nature to you.

At the root of most ill health you will find decayed teeth. No one can be really healthy with a mouth full of decayed teeth.

OPEN DAILY UNTIL 6:30 P. M. AND SUNDAY MORNINGS

Pay a little at a time—as your work progresses

My Guarantee represents twenty-three years of Dependability. During the month of February, for patients wishing it, we will take X-ray pictures of their mouths free of charge.

THE GERMS OF INFLUENZA

The Influenza Bacilli are exceedingly small, those shown in the above cut being magnified about 600 times, under the microscope. After these germs get into the blood, and we suffer from influenza, the disease leaves us with thin, watery blood—weak, anaemic, and unable to do our accustomed work.

What's to be done in such cases? Put iron in your blood and the cells become round and red. They lose the irregular shape and you gain in vim, vigor and vitality. The best combination of iron for the blood is in the form of a new iron tablet, put up by Dr. Pierce, called "Ironite." You will find, instead of pale cheeks, feelings of lassitude, tired, worn-out before the day is half done, after taking "Ironite," your cheeks will have color, you will feel strong and vigorous and ready for the fray. Start now and you will be surprised how full of vim, vigor and vitality you will feel in a few short weeks.

Keep the system in good order, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air and practise cleanliness. Remember a clean mouth, a clean skin, and clean bowels are a protecting armor against disease. To keep the liver and bowels regular and to carry away the poisons within, it is best to take a vegetable pill every other day, made up of May-apple, aloes, jalap, and sugar-coated, to be had at most drug stores, known as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. If there is a sudden onset of what appears like a hard cold, one should go to bed, wrap warm, take a hot mustard foot-bath and drink copiously of hot lemonade. If pain develops in head or back, take the druggist for Anuric (anti-uric) Tablets. These will flush the bladder and kidneys and carry off poisonous matter. To control the pains and aches take one Anuric Tablet every two hours, with frequent drinks of lemonade. The pneumonia appears in a most treacherous way, when the influenza victim is apparently recovering and anxious to leave his bed.

CAMPAIGNING FOR A LEAGUE

Quite a few distinguished personages have arrived today in San Francisco to attend the two-days' session of the Pacific Coast congress of the League to Enforce Peace. They include former President William H. Taft; Dr. Henry Van Dyke, former minister to The Netherlands; Mr. Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey; Mr. Edward A. Filene of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University, Mrs. Philip North Moore and others. Several prominent Californians will participate in the proceedings of the congress.

The object of this convocation under the auspices of the League to Enforce Peace is to promote popular sentiment in favor of the league of nations plan, the covenant of which has just been promulgated in Paris. The League to Enforce Peace, however, was not organized for this purpose. It was started some time prior to the conception of the league of nations idea and was the project of well-meaning citizens who felt called upon to do something to prevent wars. At one time its leaders were opposed to the entry of the United States in the war, although later the organization came out frankly and strongly in favor of American participation and the prosecution of the war until a decisive victory was achieved.

Probably the peace congress will render useful service to the nation in promoting a sentiment of approval for the league of nations plan. The constitution of the league which the Allied peace commissioners have just formulated is designed to carry into effect principles and to realize ideals which merit the approval of the American people. Such endorsement as may be given the plan, however, should be vouchsafed after a careful study and the attainment of a full knowledge of significance of the plan, of the responsibilities and the limitations which it seeks to impose upon the several nations, the United States included. The mere fact that the League to Enforce Peace endorses the idea is not an adequate incentive or justification for endorsement by the American people.

WHAT NEW COVENANT IMPLIES.

The league of nations covenant fundamentally seeks to prevent future wars by removing and controlling the causes of war. Its programmed activities are built upon this basic aspiration. This goes a long way toward winning the approval of the people of every nation.

First, it provides for compulsory arbitration of international disputes. There are some plausible grounds for objection to this doctrine; there are often offenses which we do not think susceptible of arbitration except by the sword and it interferes with schemes springing from national selfishness. But the benefits of arbitration so far outweigh the drawbacks that any enlightened people will endorse this principle.

Secondly, the league proposes to exercise limited supervision over the manufacture and trade in arms and ammunition for military and naval use. It proposes to discuss the question of limitation of armaments and the prescription of limits of military and naval defenses according to the requirements of safety of the several nations. Delegation of these powers to an international league will involve the merging of a portion of those rights and privileges which all peoples have been accustomed to think of as being naturally reserved to national governments into a power charged with safeguarding the peace of all nations. How far this "merging" will interfere with national aspirations cannot be known until the plan of this article is much further developed than at present. But there seems to be no ground for fear that it will interfere with the traditional policy of the United States to defend its honor and integrity.

Thirdly, it is provided in case any nation, whether a member state of the league of nations or not, ignores or violates the judgment of the league that it should not go to war, all members of the league shall unite in establishing and maintaining an economic, trade, financial and social boycott against the recalcitrant nation. This may involve the employment of armed forces by the nations maintaining the boycott. It may mean added responsibilities for the United States.

Fourthly, it is provided that backward peoples unable by themselves properly to protect and advance their own interests shall be taken under a sort of benevolent protectorate by some competent nation acting on a mandatory from the league. This may mean added responsibilities for the United States.

These and possible activities of the league of nations of lesser importance will require a readjustment of some of our historic ideas. But they seem to hold no danger for America and promise ponderable advantages to the family of nations as a whole. While not to be accepted as an absolute preventive of war, they promise substantially to minimize the dangers of war.

The Tribune believes the general principles embodied in the covenant of the league of nations should be accepted by the United States. How these principles and the phraseology of the covenant will be interpreted in the actual administration of the league remains to be seen. Necessarily there will have to be considerable elaboration of some of the articles, and upon this elaboration it is well to reserve judgment.

A DANGER IN PROPAGANDA.

This last thought is a warning to regard the tour of the officials of the League to Enforce Peace for the purpose of eliciting popular endorsement of the league with a degree of reserve. In so far as the efforts of the peace league are educational they deserve sympathy and cooperation; in so far as they are merely an exhortation they should be seriously pondered. The people have had some distressing experience with propaganda, both foreign and domestic. They have not forgotten the pacifist agitation financed by the Carnegie Foundation, the Peoples' Peace Conference, the league against national preparedness—all of which led the people into false and treacherous channels from which many recovered with great difficulty.

On the other hand, the fact should not be ignored that the personnel of the League to Enforce Peace inspires confidence and admiration. The trustworthiness of former President Taft cannot be doubted. His colleagues are likewise men and women of the highest character and of unquestionable patriotism. If the appropriateness of the activities of this organization is to be gainsaid it is not due to any deficiency among the leaders and directors of it.

TO ENFORCE THE LAW.

Secretary of Labor Wilson's pronouncement on the subject of deporting alien radicals who preach sabotage, anarchy and foment other forms of revolution against the form and the substance of the American government, will help to defeat the efforts of radical agents to arouse sympathy for them. Native-born comrades of the aliens have sought to evade or postpone the deportation of the offenders by writs of habeas corpus. They have set up the plea that the criminals were being sent out of the country without due process of law; that they were being made the victims of unjust and arbitrary force.

The Constitution guarantees that the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended. Any person can always secure a judicial hearing of his plea on such a writ, and until such hearing is held stop execution of previously issued court decrees. But due to the perpetual availability of the writ a prayer for it does not indicate that a judgment pronounced was unlawful. It creates no prejudice whatsoever against the justness of a previous sentence.

Such is the situation in the case of the alien radicals sentenced to be deported who sought writs of habeas corpus in New York. The law providing for the deportation of aliens who offend against the laws of the country is largely self-administering. It is provided that an alien convicted after judicial trial of preaching or committing acts of anarchy or revolution shall be liable to deportation. The verdict of guilty constitutes his sentence of ejection from the country. A hearing on a writ to stop such ejection can go no further than to review the record and ascertain whether the alien was convicted of the specified crime.

Secretary Wilson says it is his intention as Secretary of Labor, now that the unusual danger of sea travel is over, to carry out the clear provisions of the law.

"First, because it is my sworn duty to do so, and second, because any foreigner who comes to this country and advocates the overthrow of our form of government by force is an invading enemy, who is treated with great leniency when he is simply deported to the land from which he came."

The Secretary of Labor has summed up the situation with admirable succinctness. The sentence of deportation is indeed a mild punishment. It is to be preferred to stuffing the penal institutions of the country with malcontents from other lands.

According to a statement printed in the Army and Navy Register, all records in the use of the X-ray were broken during the last year and a half at Camp Lewis, Washington. At that military camp over 40,000 exposures were made, not only to detect the presence of disease but of foreign bodies and broken bones. This record was made possible by a new machine that is an American invention and has been entirely developed in this country. This quantity production of dependable X-ray work indicates that considerable progress has been made since Dr. Roentgen made his discovery.

NOTES and COMMENT

The country is now fairly well supplied with American painters, who can do portraits quite acceptably, and they are getting account of the President's engagement of an English artist to paint him. Colonel House is a sort of "Me, too," and is going to have his done similarly. Evidently the President is not thinking of the artist vote.

We do not get it at first as it finally turns out. We were fed up on headlines that the effect that Germany had rejected the revised armistice, but now we see they were entirely ready to accept it. In fact, we might have reasoned that this would be the outcome, for there was nothing else for them to do.

Instead of peace resulting in a relinquishment of government control of things the tendency seems to be the other way. We remember about the cables and wires. Now it is canals. Secretary Baker wants control of Cape Cod canal. That is sacred ground and doubtless there will be vigorous protest.

The Mexican government has done the unexpected in restoring more than a thousand estates confiscated during the Carranza regime. There is said not to be but one foreign holding among them, which leaves things about as they were, as far as Americans are concerned.

San Mateo is trying a new law as to dogs. Its supervisors have enacted an ordinance by which it is unlawful for a person to keep more than two dogs unless a special permit is obtained. Two dogs are enough for some persons, yet there are others who seem to feel that they are lonesome unless they have a pack. If dog owners would keep them up the number would not be so much of an objection. One dog running at large can be a decided nuisance.

Of course the suggestion was heard to be forthcoming that Ole Hanson of Seattle should be elected President. If he is as sensible as seems from his strike action he will pray to be delivered from his admirers.

San Francisco's marriage ordinance is unique, in that the fees for emptying the cans grow larger as you ascend. The eighth story, for instance, is much more expensive as to its garbage disposal than the first. But the ordinance has not yet been passed and there are acrimonious protests against it.

American soldiers have introduced the gum-chewing habit among the French, and they think it is great. Commiseration of a people who have so long dwelt in ignorance of a great American institution is likely to be felt in this connection.

It is pointed out that if Germans were as much concerned in saving Germany as they seem to be in saving the Kaiser, they would be in a position to make toward national stability. There is no doubt that they are largely consumed in pity for the poor Kaiser.

Whether there will be an extra session of Congress will depend on whether this one gets the necessary measures through. The next Congress will not be so complacent as to everything the administration considers desirable, and the President does not want it with him any longer than necessary. The next regular session will convene December 1.

One of the state commissions has come in for criticism—that on reclamation. It is about the only one that has had a big special chance, and the Sutter county floods happened. Of course, it will be claimed that the commission is not blameless in the neglect of duty, but it was there to look out for such things.

The way in which inventors go right on devising war weapons, airplanes and devices suggests a general attitude of unfaith in the world peace efforts of the congress of nations. There seems to be a purpose to go right ahead and get ready for the next war.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

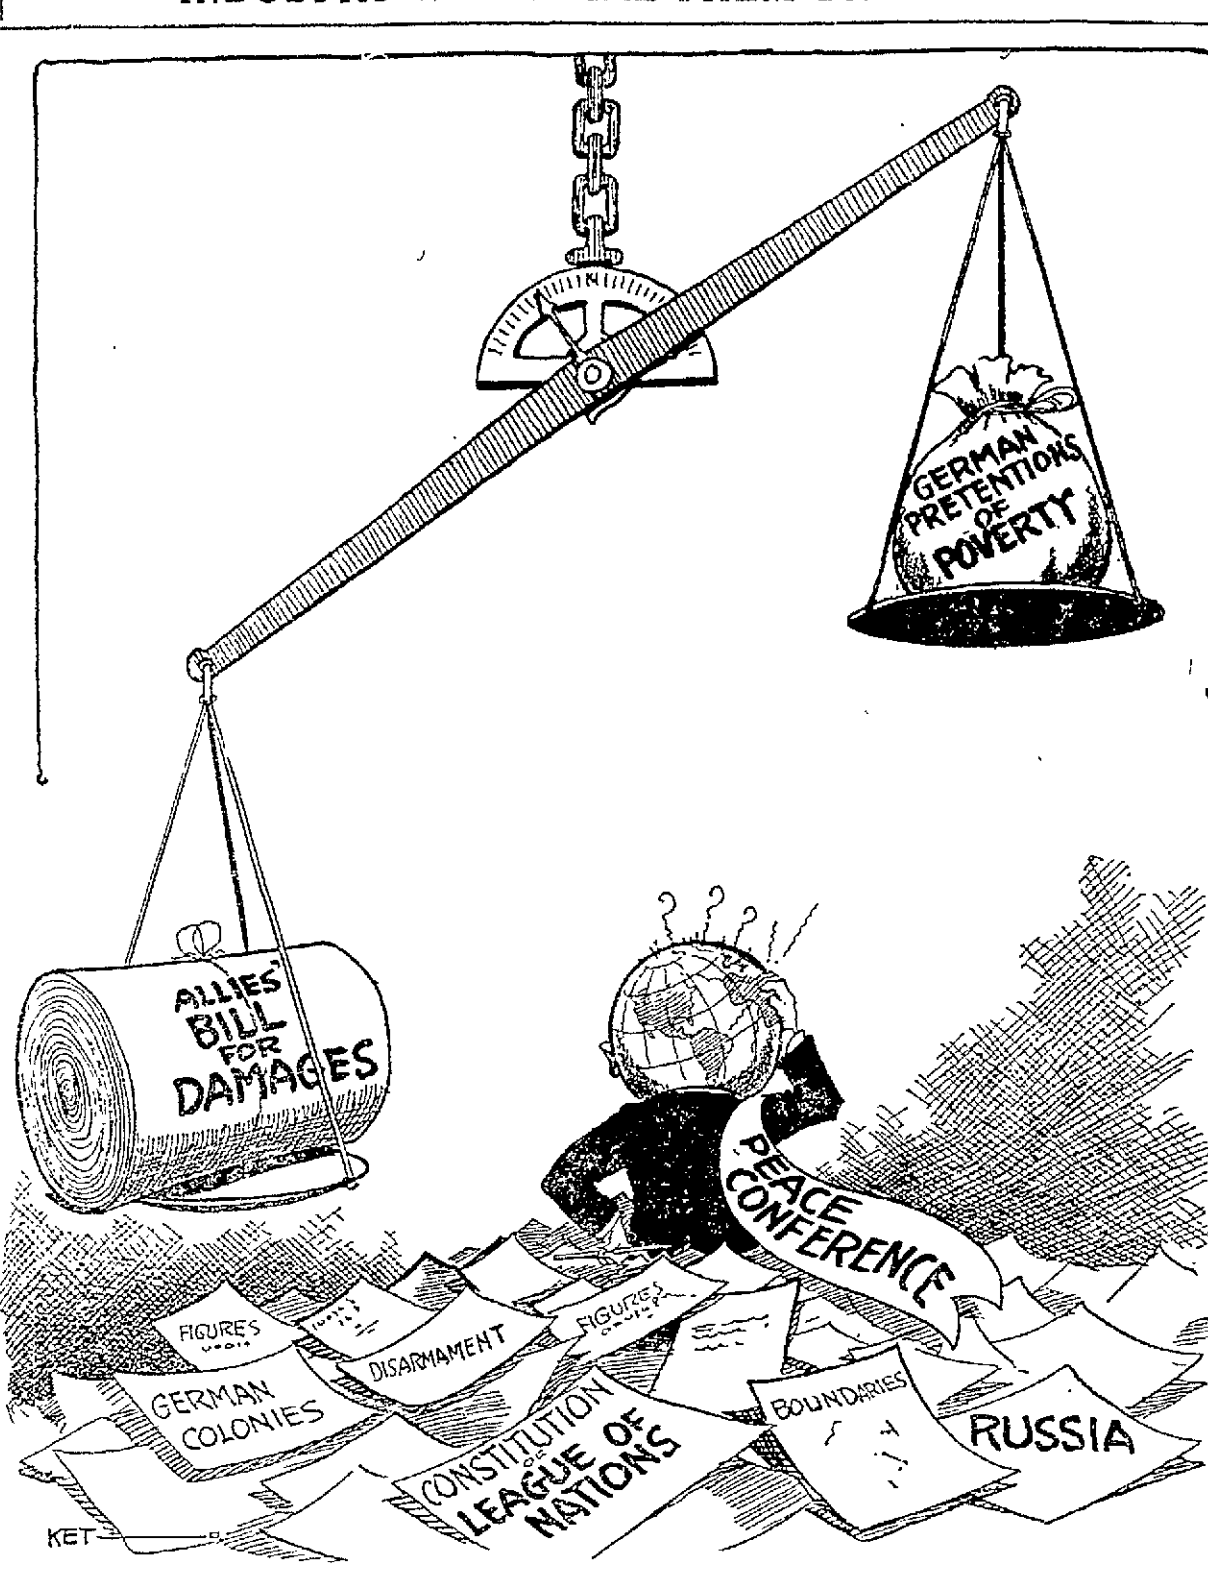

Mayor Ole Hanson is evidently a "square head." At any rate, his head sits mighty square on his shoulders, and he has done some very square thinking with it. Always a radical, the friend of labor and a leader in the struggle for better conditions, he has refused to allow himself to be muddled by the sophistries of either labor or capital.—Fresno Republican.

Since this country has learned just what a condition some of our policy makers desire, they are to be shipped in places that have such conditions ready-made. The son-of-a-gun that loves a government of the Bolshevik will find what he wants in Russia. Let us help him get there.—Red Bluff News.

An editor at Berkeley has received a warning letter that his German readers do not approve of his policy and will not stand for it. Which reminds us of Mr. Hohenzollern once told Ambassador Gerard that he would stand no foolishness from America. And he didn't. America attempted no foolishness.—Bakersfield Californian.

But we wish also to take this occasion to say that President Taft is not always agreed with Taft. It was the leader in the movement which prevented his re-election to the presidency. It stands ready again to take the lead in opposing the election of any candidate who represents a movement which President Taft (somehow unjustly, so far as he personally was concerned) was then made to symbolize. But all this does not impair the cordiality of California's welcome to the former President. As ever, recede into the distance, they are seen in a truer perspective.—Fresno Republican.

INDUSTRY WILL MAKE THEM BALANCE

FASHIONS ALWAYS CHANGING

Fifty years ago, according to a chronicler in The Oregonian of that date, "flesh-colored gaiters, with the toes stitched with black, to look as if the feet were bare," were reported to be the mode. They had, we are further assured, a "shockingly natural effect." One may well believe that they had. So, for the matter of that, do the fashions of any generation now just cause a peculiar sensation in the breast of the observer of a later time. The costumes of the past always seem queer to us, and old fashion-plates can be counted on to provoke smiles. We do not always stop to reflect that the garments some of us are wearing now are likely in the same manner to stir the risibilities of our grandchildren.

Having just passed through an era in which khaki service cloth has been the predominant material for clothing and utility has been the prevailing principle in the design of garments, we may be said to have experienced our only fashionless period in at least half a century. When we think of "fashion" we are likely to have no vision of the obviously useful. It would be futile to try to trace a mode to a basis of reason or common sense. Philosophers have tried this, but have failed to make out their case. They find rather a quest of something new and strange to occupy attention that cannot be won by more spiritual issues. Later, no doubt, there has been more than a touch of commercialism in the ever-changing styles. For us to adopt a uniform system and cling to it until the goods were worn out would restrict sales of goods and greatly curtail certain industries. It being the height of good citizenship to create demand, our arbiters see to it that changes take place with sufficient frequency to forestall too great thrift. Yet it would be superficial to say that this is the sum of all there is in fashion-changing. There have been revolutions in clothing among civilized peoples ever since the world was young. They had them in Helen's day, less than ten in the gay times of the Second Empire.

Fashion is not primarily, as a mistaken historian has intimated, "that which the multitude wear, and not the attire of the elite." It represents, first, unrest and the desire for change, and, second, the primitive desire to keep up with the Joneses. There were Joneses when people dwelt in caves, just as there are now, and multitudes who let the pace be set for them. There was once a man who proposed a school of fashion. He had a basis well worked out. He would first study the "needs" of the people, he said, and would deliver from them a mode which would meet their requirements, spiritual, moral and physical. There should be comfort and esthetic satisfaction. And then we would settle down to the enjoyment of the product and change no more. The economic sin of casting away a good thing, still capable of shedding the rain and keeping out the wind, would never again be committed upon the flimsy pretext that one would be better dressed than out of style. But the school died with the prospectus. Its foundation was not, after all, a scientific one. It took no account of the important factor of human nature.

The crinoline of the reign of Louis Napoleon had prototypes in remote antiquity. The Orientals of long ago had devised an equivalent of the hoopskirt which we now ridicule, but which it is not certain we shall not readopt at some future time. Only a few years ago the high waists and sheath gowns which women of fashion affected were hailed as novelties, but the instigators of them had borrowed the idea from Mme. Recamier. She, says Roger Boutet de Monvel, was inspired by the Greeks and Romans. The generation still living remembers the "bustle." It was in the height of a passing glory in the early '60s, but it was even then almost as old as the hills. In the more recent 80s there was a fashion among men of wearing trousers that made many of them resemble living skeletons. But in the early eighteenth century it is recorded that our ancestors "wore clothes so tight to the skin that it might well be conceived that they wore no clothes at all." The practice of wearing furs in summer is not a mere bit of modern feminine foolishness, as some have supposed. It has been traced to certain tribes of wild barbarians.—Portland Oregonian.

WHY?

By ADA KYLE LYNCH.
Why is the glow in the east so bright?
Why is the sky so blue?
Why is earth's carpet so lustrously green?
Ah, 'tis of love of you!
Why is the sunset a golden glow?
Why like diamonds the dew?
Why does the moonlight so enchanting seem?
Ah, 'tis of love of you!
Earth, sky, mountain, new beauties have won,
Streamlets sparkle anew,
Daylight and moonlight a glamour take on,
Ah, 'tis of love of you!

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Helping the Emotional Cure
Themselves Is Science's Way

BY DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

Among other remnants left after more than four years of the world war are men and women with ailments called "nervous prostration," "hysteria," "nervousness," lack of mental equilibrium, "mental shock" and "emotional disorders."

The center of this web is a disturbance of the emotions, the feelings and the attention. From some fright, surprise or other emotional shock, a steady business man or clerk becomes "jumpy," afraid that he is going to die or go crazy; confused in his feelings; fearful of sleep, of night, of silence, of being alone or of the dark. He may stutter, change his gait or put all of his attention on himself and little else and aches, which normally would pass unnoticed. One of my patients lost his voice for ten months. Another thought a pain in the shoulder indicated tuberculosis or pneumonia. A third was convinced for months that he was blind and could not see.

Among more than 500 victims of emotionalism after a shock such as a serious accident or the consequence of a long fever or a serious illness, patients were observed with stammering, twitching eyelids, trouble to walk, trembling, speechlessness, blindness, lameness, fits and spasms.

Since these disturbances are emotional and glandular, with an excessive emphasis of the sufferer's point of view—his attention—directed inwardly upon himself, instead of outwardly upon the big, broad expanse of the universe, treatment and relief will fall if hypnotism, medicine, balneology or re-education are relied upon by themselves.

Experience has proved that one of the very best treatments, often swift in results, is to explain forcefully by dominating the will of the patient that he will be cured. He must pay attention to your every suggestion. With electricity the muscles are made strong, and the victim's will is trained and disciplined.

Each victim and each symptom is to be treated with understanding psychologically and physiologically. The patient must tell his dreams, his hidden pains or the surprise shock and fear which gave rise to the condition.

A confident, dominating, optimistic atmosphere suggests correctly to the sufferer that he has no physical, structural defect, only a false point of view and a misplaced attention. Persuasion and electricity, salesmanship and selling power of the friend or the doctor over the patient usually removes the disempower.

You as a friend must "tell him," overpower him by the force of your knowledge, your will and your power. His resistance to be feared must be broken, just as an obstinate, balky broncho is broken.

The victim must be mastered and made to master himself. He must have explained to him with quiet, firm sympathy and confidence all about the suppression of repressed emotions. They must be allowed to rise out of their compressed chambers.

Strict discipline, regular outdoor work, with a routine for almost every hour and some sort of a profitable return to him in the way of increased earning power are great aids to recovery.

Unfavorable surroundings, "rubbing the patient the wrong way," impatience, irritability on the part of relatives and friends, each seems to retard the restoration to health. Whatever other treatments are carried out the use of the electric battery for ten minutes every four hours, either the faradic or the galvanic electrically, materially hastens the return to normal.

BUTTON SALE BY UNIFORMED MEN STOPPED

Charged with unlawfully wearing the uniform of the United States army, four ex-soldiers, Willis Slater, 21, Lon Cedar, 25, Ray Pierce, 21, and Rosario Clavel, 25, were taken into custody last night by the military police at Twelfth and Broadway, where they were selling "liberty" buttons to pedestrians. The local police charge that the men were telling passersby that the profits of the sale would go to a fund for sick soldiers.

When arrested the men had in their possession more than $500 in currency, which is understood to have been the proceeds of the sale of the "liberty" buttons. The identity of the fund which the men said they were aiding by the sale of the "buttons" has not yet been established by the police.

Last Monday Captain of Detectives James Drew, acting upon the complaints of citizens who said that they had been annoyed by the methods of the soldiers soliciting them to buy buttons, took the matter up with the federal authorities who caused the arrests to be made by the military police on a charge of unlawfully wearing the uniform of the United States army. In the meantime efforts are being made to establish the identity of the fund for sick soldiers.

One of the men, Pierce, who has been discharged from the army more than two months, made as much as $20 a day from the sale of buttons, according to the authorities.

Additional charges may be placed against the men by the federal authorities as a result of the investigation being made by the local police.

East Oakland Property Should Double in Value

You older residents will remember when East Oakland was considered the exclusive residence section of the city—then new additions were added—and the older houses were run down and now East Oakland property owners can double the value of their property. If you own an old home, remodel it—add a sleeping porch, replaster the outside, panel the dining room, rebuild the large, old-fashioned kitchen by adding closets and a breakfast room—modernize it. Just picture the older houses of East Oakland rebuilt—well-kept gardens and modern looking. Of course property values will increase. We will help you by loaning you the money (no commission) on easy terms to improve your old house or build on that vacant lot.

"Salome" With Theda Bara Now at American Theater

THEDA BARA, the world's peerless portray of human emotions, in the role of the historically famous seductress, "Salome," is appearing at the American for a week's engagement, commencing today.

Theda Bara, premier portray of emotional and tenderly dramatic roles, commenced a week's engagement at the American Theatre this afternoon in the stupendous, spectacular and sensational William Fox production, "Salome."

Miss Bara, appearing in the title role, gives an artistic, fascinating portrayal of the beautiful, alluring, Judean Princess who ruled the tyrannical King

CHAPTER 3.

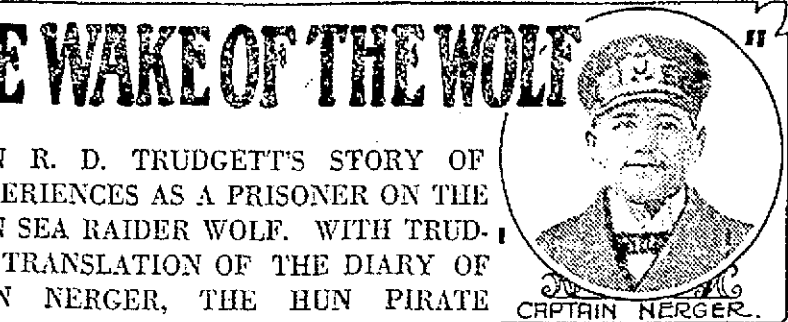

Deaths, Accidental and Otherwise

I did not see much of Captain Cameron. In one way he was fortunate in having his wife and child alone. They saved him from having to live in hold No. 4. Mrs. Cameron was sick for quite a while, but later got better. The little girl didn't seem to mind being on the raider much. She made friends with about everybody on board. Nevertheless, I guess Mrs. Cameron and the little girl gave Cameron a good deal to worry about for our future was shrouded in doubt. It was a long way to Germany, but still I guess everyone thought we were just as apt to land in Germany as to do any of the numerous other things which were announced or rumored. I used to think of my own wife and two boys in Alameda and I felt thankful that they were safe in California. Sailorsmen get used to rough and hard life, to meager rations, to keeping themselves in a physical frame of mind under hardship and strain, but still, it was bad enough and I knew my family was better off than though they were with me. As for myself I knew I could grin and bear it if the rest of the prisoners could.

Only one man died on the Wolf while I was aboard. Second Mate Johnson of the Beluga who crumpled up one day with a hemorrhage of the heart. The Germans gave him a full military funeral, the burial service being read by Captain Olson of the captured American schooner Endeavor. Johnson's body was draped with an American flag and the commander, officers and crew all attended the burial rites. One of the crew of the Wolf had a leg broken when the Germans were taking the Hitachi Maru on board and a sling broke. His leg had to be amputated.

Captain Cameron of the Hitachi Maru killed himself rather than face the consequences of losing his steamer, but neither his death nor the broken leg accident was due to disease, starvation or hardship. One man, and perhaps two, were drowned or died on an island, after swimming ashore from the Wolf, two who tried to escape while the Wolf lay off Sunday Island. The chief mate and first assistant engineer of the captured American schooner slipped over the Wolf's side as the prisoners were being herded into hold No. 4. The two men climbed to the propeller or rudder of the ship and tried to swim ashore. One report is that both men got ashore, one report is that one man got ashore and the other drowned, and there is a report that the Germans shot both men on the island but did not announce the killing. I know that after I was a prisoner in German prison camps by relatives of the two men. This does not look as if either one escaped. I think likely the Germans shot them.

In telling of the death and accidental happenings in the preceding paragraphs I purposely omitted the killing of the day gun crew on the Hitachi Maru. This came later and was the result of the Wolf's gunfire at an enemy merchantman trying to escape. It hardly belongs in the category of accidental happenings and death from natural causes. I believe a number of the Wolf's prize crew on the Matunga, the capture of which I am about to relate, lost an

CHAPTER 14.

Last of the Hitachi Maru.

The Wolf went back upon the steamer routes, looking now especially for a collier, since we had two ships to take care of instead of one and they were plenty. The Hitachi Maru was left at anchor to complete its repairs. On the fourth and fifth days we sighted two steamers, the first of which was evidently a mail ship since she showed all of her lights at night.

The second, however, showed no light at all, but was a very fast ship. When it sighted us it shifted its course and overhauled us, coming up under our stern. At once I took it to be a British auxiliary cruiser and prepared to fight. Even the torpedo tubes were made ready. I was aware constantly of the danger we were in and always intended to send home the first shot. The ship passed close to our stern. It was armed and we could see the crew and the guns. Even then I did not open fire and was able to observe that it was a passenger steamer of 10,000 tons or so.

Having passed our stern it continued on its former course at about 15 knots an hour. On account of the neutral ship so close to us I did not wish to use the torpedo, since that vessel, having observed us, would have the news of the British and Japanese ships in these waters. So we followed the passenger steamer until morning, but by that time it was too far off for our cannon to reach and the sea was too rough to launch the Wolfchen after her. With and hears we thus were forced to give up the chase.

Many more days passed without our sighting anything else. By noon the Hitachi Maru was overdue at the cape, and the cruiser there would certainly be out searching for her, and so I resolved to quit the locality. I saw the orders of the Wolfchen to the Hitachi Maru, which still lay at anchor off the atoll, to get underway along the route I had already mapped out for her.

The Wolf, having been dogged the track of the steamers, working to the southwards in its efforts to continue the war against enemy trade. Finally we gave up the search and lay to near Sunday Island, where we were to see if our Wolfchen would not be lucky to find something bound for South Madagascar.

During all of this period we had made a considerable hole in our coal supply and coal aboard the Hitachi was getting short as well. She burned so much more coal than the Wolf. Very much indeed I should have liked to keep the Hitachi Maru, but it was not to be. However, we wanted to take any more of her rich cargo before sinking her and we would have to find a new anchorage at once. We steamed, therefore, for some low islands and reefs that lie 250 miles or so south-west of Mauritius and anchored once on the taking of the Australian out the remainder of the Hitachi Maru's valuable cargo. It was, indeed, a fat and rich cargo that we snatched from the enemy.

I think of this time we could very confidently have challenged an ordinary zoological garden to equal our number and variety of four-footed animals as well as the numerous birds we had on board. One day we were a little bit weary away from the supposition that he was on board a warship of the German navy if he could have seen the Hitachi or the crew taking care of them. The Hitachi brought many additions to our family of pets, which is worth trying to describe.

POLITICS! SAYS MAYOR OVER SUIT FOR $500

Barnacles that grow almost as fast as Oakland, promises that never were fulfilled, a company that never paid dividends, and politics galore all figure in the feud between Mayor John L. Davis and Stewart MacCallan, "the ferret" who has filed suit against Mayor Davis alleging that the mayor has not paid a note for $500 made out to him in 1908.

The mayor says that he doesn't owe MacCallan a cent; that if the truth be told MacCallan owes him much more than $500; that MacCallan had an intention to carve barnacles off the bottom of ships and get the mayor to put $1000 in its name back and get the note for five hundred to use as an "ad," connecting the mayor with the plan; that when Davis came back from Mexico all that was left of the barnacle machine company were the bills, which the mayor, who had been elected president without his knowledge, found he had to pay.

"I put in a thousand," said the Mayor, "and Sten got money from a lot of other people. Then I went to Mexico. When I came back there was no Sten, no company, no stock, no profits; just bills galore that hadn't been paid."

"Sten never had five hundred dollars to loan any one. This suit is just designed around election time to try and hurt me," I bounced Sten off the city hall and he's trying to get even. He's got a lot of chances. He and Doc Herrick and the rest of that gang are trying to pull off some smooth politics—but it cuts no ice at all with me or with the public. I should worry about Sten's suit.

According to MacCallan, the mayor agreed to take $1000 worth of stock in his company, paid $500 in cash and gave him a note for the remainder. This occurred, he says, on August 12, 1908. Since then, according to his story, he has repeatedly asked the mayor for the money, and this has been as repeatedly refused. MacCallan says that he "made good" the money in the company.

"It's a lie," said the Mayor. "Sten never asked me for any money—he knows that he owes me money, and I him, and as for him ever putting up five hundred for me! Ha! If he ever saw five hundred in a lump he'd die!" MacCallan is famous for his blarney and for his efforts to show men how to gain fortunes in taxes in exchange for a few thousand dollars in fees for him. These offers are always filed without comment.

ANARCHISTS TO GET SHORT SHRIFT HERE

Federal officers in Oakland have prepared all details for "moving up" on foreign anarchists, Bolsheviks and draft evaders, who are to be deported as fast as taken in wholesale deportation proceedings. The Oakland Department of Justice operatives, working in conjunction with the other side of the bay and with draft board officials and other sources of information, are preparing a vigorous "drive."

Three men who, after taking out first papers refused to complete their citizenship, claiming to be foreigners to evade the draft, are already under investigation by the local Federal operatives, these to be deported as soon as their first papers are revoked. Two of the men had listed themselves as "objectors."

The work of rounding up Bolsheviks and anarchists will be carried out under the direction of John W. Preston, special U. S. Attorney, together with Robert Duncan and a corps of investigators under E. M. Hanford. As fast as arrests are to be made from either side of the bay the men arrested will be sent to the immigration station at Angel Island, where they will be held pending deportation hearings.

Each case will, as heard, be reported on to the Department of Labor, and the final decision of the department and the court will be placed before Commissioner Anthony Caminetti for a deportation order.

Federal operators say that there are a large number of active foreign agitators working among the shipyard employees, and prompt arrests are expected. Already there are several prisoners on the island awaiting inquiries.

Shipping Man Makes Charges Against Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Pretty Mrs. Dorothy Kibbey, wife of Robert J. Kibbey, shipping man, is not 25 years old, but 18; she is a former vaudeville dancer and likes to step out with other men, too; she smokes cigarettes, and during the first month of her marriage to Kibbey spent $1700 in frivolous—these are the charges with which Kibbey comes back at the separate maintenance suit filed by his answer, just filed, is a plea for divorce.

Kibbey, former traffic manager for the Java-Pacific Steamship line, married Dorothy Stone in San Jose October 12, 1918.

Appeal Is Made For Clothes For Needy Belgians

"Is it possible that Oakland will fail to do its share in this, America's last gift to Belgium?"

This is the question that the women at headquarters, 155 Thirteenth street, are constantly asking each other.

Oakland's quota for this last drive for clothes for the Belgian men, women and children is twenty tons. Today there are two and a half tons packed—empty cases waiting to be filled and patient women waiting to fill them.

Last year Oakland sent twenty tons of clothes to the Belgians to those brave people whose king said: "My country is a kingdom—it is not a highway."

Belgium needs clothes. Call up headquarters, Lakeside 4721. Your donations will be collected at any time you state.

AUTO STAGE LINE ASKS EXTENSION

The De Luxe Transportation Co., which, June last, obtained from the State Railroad Commission a permit to operate an auto stage line between Hayward and San Jose, today filed with the commission a request that its route be extended from the terminal at Hayward into the city of Oakland. The company claims that the enforced transfer from its coaches to the street cars at Hayward when passengers wish to go to Oakland results in a loss of patronage, and the company desires to make the route more popular with a continuous trip from Oakland to San Jose.

The company operates four specially built motor coaches, each with a seating capacity of 25 and is prepared to add to this equipment. If the route extension is granted, says the petition, the company will charge $1 for a trip between Oakland and San Jose, 15 cents between Oakland and San Leandro and 25 cents between Oakland and Hayward.

Don't think lightly of Catarrh. Don't make the mistake of believing that it is merely an aggravated bad cold. True, this trouble usually starts with what is apparently a cold in the head, but beware of any cold that "hangs on." You may as well realize the outset that Catarrh is a chronic disease and one that should not be trifled with. In fact, in many instances it is a forerunner of the most dreaded of all diseases—consumption. Don't permit yourself to be deceived. Perhaps, like thousands of others afflicted with Catarrh, you are about ready to believe that the disease is incurable, and that you are doomed to spend the remainder of your days hawking and spitting, with no relief in sight. You are inflamed and stopped-up passages that make the days miserable and the nights sleepless.

When you are in the grasp of Catarrh, your experience should convince you that the disease is beyond the reach of sprays, douches, jellies, balms, ointments and other locally applied remedies.

When the air passages become so stopped up that every breath you take is difficult

Realize that the Catarrh comes from a germ which infiltrates the blood, and that the disease cannot exist when these germs are routed from the blood. The rational and successful treatment, therefore, is one that reaches the blood, and cleanses it of every trace of impurity and rids it of these tiny Catarrh germs. Of course, no local remedies can reach the blood supply, and that is why Catarrh is not cured by sprays and lotions.

The one great blood remedy that has made a wonderful record is S. S. S., which has been on sale by drug stores everywhere for over half a century. If you would be rid of your Catarrh, get a bottle of this great old remedy today, which will give you satisfactory results, as it has in so many cases. You will find that you are on the right treatment at last, as S. S. S. will do for you what it has for thousands of others. Start taking S. S. S. to-day, and write a complete description of your case to our head physician, who will give you return mail, without charge. Who brought the Ocean to Oakland?

From the Ship Builders and Metal Workers of San Francisco District

To Our 100,000 Employees:

About this Saturday half holiday.

In the agreement made with the shipbuilders by your agent, the Iron Trades Council, forty-eight hours was fixed as the working week.

It was the Macy Board—composed of representatives of the U. S. Shipping Board, the U. S. Navy and the Unions—that established 48 hours as the basic week.

The shipbuilders and metal workers had no representative on the Macy Board. But they accepted its findings, and the

on the Macy Board. But they accepted its findings, and the agreement with the Iron Trades Council was made on this basis.

Most of you have lived up to this agreement.

Some of you haven't.

Some of you have refused to work Saturday afternoon and have threatened to strike because the yards have said that men who didn't keep to the 48-hour bargain wouldn't be employed.

Here are some points for you to think about and talk over.

Every craft that lays off when other crafts are working breaks up the organization of yard or shop. Without organi-

You will be notified today by the different yards that men who insist on taking a holiday Saturday afternoon—in violation of their own agreement—will lose their jobs.

The 48-hour bargain was made for you by the Iron Trades Council.

The 48-hour bargain was made for you by the Iron Trades Council.

All we ask is that you stick by that agreement. We've made concessions. You've made concessions. Some of you may not like this agreement, and perhaps we don't. But we both made it, so let's stick to it until we can make a better.

Union labor fought for years for the right to make just such a bargain—for the right to deal with employers through their own agent.

The agreement made for you by the Iron Trades Council was a victory for the principle of collective bargaining.

DON'T YOU THINK YOU'RE IN DANGER OF THROWING AWAY THIS VICTORY?

This is what it amounts to if, through your act, the Iron Trades Council is unable to hold its membership to their word.

If we can't depend on your word how can be deal with you?

It's on the strength of your promise to work certain hours

DON'T YOU THINK YOU'RE IN DANGER OF THROWING AWAY THIS VICTORY?

This is what it amounts to if, through your act, the Iron Trades Council is unable to hold its membership to their word.

If we can't depend on your word how can be deal with you?

It's on the strength of your promise to work certain hours

that we secure business to keep the yards going.

Getting work for the yards is more important than hours or wages. Without work the others wouldn't matter.

THERE ARE STILL MILLIONS OF TONS OF SHIPS TO BE BUILT. BUT THE DEMAND IS NOT SO PRESSING NOW THAT THEY WILL BE BUILT ANYWHERE REGARDLESS OF COST

We must get business now in competition with the world; we must bid against yards where longer hours and probably greater efficiency prevail, and where the burden of transcontinental freight on materials doesn't exist.

UNLESS WE CAN MAKE AGREEMENTS

WITH YOU—AND DEPEND ON THEM—WE CAN'T MAKE CONTRACTS TO BUILD SHIPS.

You know this.

You've been told that by taking a holiday on Saturday afternoon you're helping to make more jobs for returning

If the yards are closed—and they will be if we can't get ships to build—there will be fewer jobs for everybody.

ONE BIG SHIP TO BUILD WILL MEAN

MORE JOBS FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS THAN ALL THE HALF-HOLIDAYS YOU CAN TAKE IN A YEAR.

Let us know that you'll be on the job, that you'll keep your agreements, and we'll undertake to accumulate enough manufacturing contracts to keep everybody busy.

RAISE RATES WILL INFLATE COSTS AND CAST OFF THE RATE

That ports about the bay and other Pacific Coast ports may share the Oriental offshore commerce with the New York and Atlantic coast ports, a readjustment of the freight rates export railway rates is to be undertaken by the United States Railroad Administration and railroad bodies about the bay will continue to work for a proper readjustment of rates and have decided to keep up the battle with official assignment is given by the Railroad Administration that such a step is contemplated. It is generally held that this coast is about to win a decisive victory.

The plan of the chambers of commerce of Pacific coast ports to have coast cities placed on an equal footing with the Atlantic seaboard in matter of rates is receiving the support and cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis, Cincinnati and other eastern and central cities, it is announced.

A telegram, explaining the extreme nature of the case, was immediately sent by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce to Commerce men Julius Kahn, United States Senator, and General of the Railroads, Seth Math, manager of the Chamber of Commerce Traffic department, Congressman H. J. Johnson, United States Senator, and others. A copy was turned over to Senator Peckan.

More than 100 prominent shipping men and brokers who have de-expressed the opinion that as soon as the lower rates are granted there will be an immediate resumption of activity here.

GIRLS JABBED BY NEEDLE IN POISON PLOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The police are scouring the city for a sailor who used a hypodermic needle upon two young women in the Alameda dance hall last night while dancing with them.

According to Mary Eiland, 545 O'Farrell street, while she was dancing with a man she felt a sharp pain in her arm. Hurrying to the dressing room she became unconscious. After being revived she pointed the man out to a friend, Pearl French, who later had a similar experience. The needle being jabbed in her back. She became unconscious and before the man could be identified by Mrs. Eiland, a woman protective officer at the dance hall had escaped.

REPORT IS MADE.
A report dealing with the girls' experience was filed with Chief of Police D. A. White today by Mrs. Eiland. Miss Eiland was the first victim of the needle plot. She was in the middle of a fox trot with the sailor, whom she had never previously met, when suddenly she felt a sharp sensation in her arm. A few seconds later she became so dizzy she could hardly stand. She excused herself and with difficulty made her way to the ladies' rest room. Here her senses gradually left her. Her friend, Mrs. French, who reached the dressing room where she fainted. Upon her recovery the girls told their story to Mrs. Eiland. A search was instituted, but the mysterious sailor had fled.

The theory of the police is that the sailor plans by use of the needle to make his girl victims easy prey to his schemes. He hopes that, with the first feeling of faintness, they will ask him to take them out into the air.

Ship Orders Here May Be Saved Substitute Contracts Are Likely Piez Says That Situation Is Studied

Concurrently with the passing of labor trouble in Eastbay shipyards, an announcement is made that the plants here and across the bay may not lose all the government ship contracts recently suspended, or cancelled, by the Emergency Fleet Corporation. The intimation of a change in plans is contained in a telegram from Charles Piez, director general of the fleet corporation, and tends to indicate that contracts at present held up at the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and at the Moore and Hanlon plants may be substituted by orders for vessels of larger and more generally utilitarian type.

TWO YEARS' WORK
The management of Eastbay shipyards believe the contemplated change in plans, as announced by Piez, is directly traceable to the change for the better of labor conditions here. They do not state that the return to work of the men is the sole reason for the readjustment of shipbuilding contracts at local yards, but that the disposition evinced by the workers to labor in harmony with plant management had a powerful influence in bringing about the readjustment. They are confident amicable relations between shipyard employee and employer will be at least maintained by federal contracts sufficient to keep the yards operating at full time for the next two years.

Reports from the Eastbay yards are to the effect that they are today operating practically 100 per cent efficiency. "More men on the job today than yesterday," is the substance of statements made by the management. It is their opinion that normal working conditions will prevail before the end of the week. Work is again being done on partially completed vessels, and the prospects are said to favor launching of the ships within the time limitations of government contracts.

NEW ORDERS LIKELY
As matters now stand, contracts for twenty-two steel ships, ranging from 5500 to 12,000 tons burden, are under suspension to Eastbay shipbuilding concerns. Six of these vessels, of 5500 tons each, were under contract to the Hanlon Drydock and Shipbuilding Company, six others, of 12,000 tons, were allotted to the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation; six more, of 4400 tons, were to be built at the plant of the Moore Shipbuilding and Dock Company. These are the contracts which Director General Piez intimates may be superseded by others. The Piez telegram bearing on the subject reads as follows:

"Have suspended work on six ships with Moore plant, six with Alameda plant of Bethlehem Corporation, six with Hanlon plant and four with Shaw-Batchelor company. Now engaged in investigation to determine whether to cancel all or substitute vessels of more desirable type for part of those suspended."

The Piez telegram is supplemented by one from John H. Ros-

OPPIUM DEN IS RAIDED; GIRLS, 'OWNER' JAILED

Two girls, found in the place "sleeping off" the effects of opium, were arrested, together with William White, alleged proprietor, in the raid last night on the "De Luxe Club" at 918 Kirkham street. A cache of $1000 worth of narcotics, buried in the basement of the house, was unearthed and confiscated.

The raid was conducted by Dr. H. B. Meader of the State Board of Pharmacy and his operatives. It is the second raid on the place in two months, Meader finding $800 worth of poisons on the first raid.

According to Dr. Meader the place, which is operated under the guise of a social club, is really an opium den operated on a large scale.

ALL HELD IN JAIL.
The two girls arrested, Maud Harlow and Jane Williams, are employed as cafe waitresses and are opium addicts, according to Meader. White, the accused owner of the place, is a negro. All are in the city prison awaiting bail.

According to Meader his operatives, digging in the cellar, found an assorted collection of narcotics buried. This will be used in evidence.

Through the activities of the pharmacy board in "holding down" the opium trade, opium has risen enormously in price. An opium shipment seized six years ago by the pharmacy board, at the time valued at $1500, is now estimated to be worth more than $60,000. A legal fight is now on over the ownership of this opium, seized in a warehouse by Louis Zeh, secretary of the pharmacy board.

CASE STILL PENDING.
Look Tin Eih, Chinese capitalist, who recently left Oakland for China, as the result of the Canton Bank feud, was one of the claimants of the opium, which was taken forcibly after a steel vault was drilled in the warehouse to get it. Legal complications resulted at once, the owners claiming it and the board claiming it. According to John E. Davis, attorney for the board, the latest decision of the Appellate Court in the tangle will give the pharmacy board an opportunity to reopen its fight. A writ of review prevents the police courts from turning the opium over to the state board, but this Davis expects to contest. According to Zeh this is the last big cache purchased before the state poison act went into effect. Another cache, valued at $4500, was recently found by Inspector John De Vries.

GENERAL BLUE ORDERS COAST VICE CRUSADE

Arrest of Henry L. McElroy, Oakland realty broker, and of Charles Courtney and William Paulson, accused of furnishing liquor to men in uniform, is the first step in a renewed campaign to be waged against vice in Oakland, according to an announcement made today by Major J. C. Coar, who arrived in San Francisco recently under orders from General Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the army.

General plans for mapping out the city and San Francisco into districts, and the placing of a special officer in each city, commanding adequate details of men.

This activity on the part of the War Department includes Los Angeles, San Diego and Seattle in its scope, and purposes taking out of the hands of the police enforcement of laws against vice, at least to an extent that will protect the men in the uniform of the United States.

Major Coar starts with an appropriation of $10,000, and it is understood that this appropriation will be added to as necessity requires.

McElroy and those arrested with him will be charged directly on information filed by Special War Attorney James E. Colston, and the case will be heard by a court and jury without preliminary hearing before a commissioner.

The McElroy home was raided by an army provost detail after it had been under investigation for some time. It was stated that a number of men prominent in business and professional life in Oakland and San Francisco have been visitors of the place, and that women also have been frequenters. Three women were in the place at the time of the raid, but they were permitted to go after their names had been taken. These names have not been made public.

Three women of the Oakland underworld were given terms in the Alameda county jail following pleas of guilty before Judge M. T. Dooley today. They are Mary Bernard, 275 Willow street, three months; Amelia De Faur, 523 Washington street, and Emma Eggert, 717 Clay street, 60 days each.

Hayward Air Hero Reaches N. Y. Sunset Division Men Disembark Former Oakland Officer Arrives

Lieutenant Arthur H. Jones, son of Mrs. Harriet T. Jones of Hayward, and one of the most noted aviators of the American air forces, arrived in New York today on the transport Canopic. Lieutenant Jones has four planes to his credit and wears the Distinguished Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre.

Young Jones joined an ambulance corps last June, while he was attending Stanford, and after reaching France transferred to the Aviation Service.

Also on the transport were Lieutenants Ralph O'Neil, formerly of Oakland but now of Nogales, Ariz., and Eugene Mason of Salem, Oregon. Both have French war crosses and the D. S. C.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Transport Canopic arrived here today with 34 officers and 1201 men of the 123d Infantry of the 41st Division, former National Guard troops of Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and Wyoming.

They comprised the field and staff, headquarters machine gun company, medical detachment and Companies A, B and C, and a detachment of Company D. Also on board were 154 casual officers and men and 21 naval officers and civilian employees. The Canopic left Brest February 8.

Twelve hundred and twenty-three Oregon troops, all from the Sunset Division, under command of Colonel John L. May of Portland, were aboard the Canopic.

"Out of the 5700 boys that I took over, I am bringing 1223 back with me," said Colonel May. "We had 67 casualties, among which only two were killed in action and only fourteen seriously wounded. The rest of the troops are scattered all over France."

The 165th Infantry, A. B. C. and part of D companies, which were aboard the Canopic, was formerly the original Third Oregon Infantry.

SUSPECT FORMS PRISON BAND
Harry Belknap, the "Musical Burglar," whose activities in Oakland included half a dozen housebreakings, according to the police, and who is now in jail in San Jose, awaiting trial there, has organized a prison orchestra in the Santa Clara county jail.

The mandolin, a cornet and a guitar, found in his rooms in Oakland by the local police after his arrest in San Jose, are helping to make the weekly ring about the San Jose courthouse, for Captain James T. Drew sent on the instruments, expecting that they might be turned over to owners there. No owners have turned up—and the "Prison Band," with Belknap as the leader, plays "Home, Sweet Home" daily and serenades the District Attorney with other tuneful appeals for clemency.

Belknap came to trial in San Jose on March 5. Inspector John Duffon of the Oakland police department will be one of the witnesses, telling of his record here.

According to Captain Drew, Belknap stole for a living, but collected musical instruments as a hobby. When he was arrested and his room located, the inspectors' bureau in the Oakland City hall was piled high with all manner of instruments, many of which were returned to their owners, while only a few were left. These were sent to San Jose.

Belknap has served one sentence already for burglary.

Probe of Shipping Board to Be Asked
At the meeting of Seafarers' Union, No. 6, of San Francisco, last night resolutions were adopted, it is said, directing the secretary to write to members of Congress from the San Francisco district asking for an investigation of the expenditure by the United States Shipping Board of government funds.

Similar resolutions are, it is stated, to be submitted to all the Iron Trades Councils on the Pacific coast, subject to a confirmatory referendum vote by the various unions making up such councils.

'PHONE OPERATORS VOTING ON STRIKE
The result of the strike vote taken in secret last night by the San Francisco Telephone Operators' Union will not be announced until after a conference of representatives of the International Association of Electrical Workers with Postmaster General Burleson to be held sometime next week.

Tonight, in the Pacific building, the Oakland Telephone Operators' Union will likewise take a secret strike vote. The result of this ballot will also be held up until after the conference with the postmaster general.

Sixty-three Pacific coast locals are voting the current week on the question of a strike for higher wages for the coast district. About 15,000 operators are affected. The tally of these votes will determine the stand to be taken by the international officers at the coming conference.

The vote to be taken here this evening, like the one taken in San Francisco last night, will be under the supervision of L. C. Glasser of Oakland, vice president of the International Association of Electrical Workers, with which the telephone operators are affiliated. Glasser will also canvass the votes of all the Pacific coast locals and will certify the same to the officers of the international.

LARGER FUND IS URGED FOR CHILDREN AID

Great difficulty in finding proper homes for dependent children is being faced by the child-caring agencies in Alameda county by reason of the meager appropriation of the state for their board. The social agencies of Alameda county are planning a campaign directed toward the success of certain bills before the state legislature looking toward an increased appropriation. An effort will be made to bring the agencies into agreement upon some legislative program and a concerted action for its successful issue.

"We are obliged to demand a certain standard of living and more than a dependent child in other words we cannot ask a woman to give her time, strength and patience in rearing a child, not her own, without at least providing sufficient funds to cover its actual living expenses, declares Mrs. Florence Hill of the Associated Charities.

COSTS INCREASE.
"A child up to 15 years cannot be cared for for less than $15 or $16 a month. We draw upon state aid, supplemented by county aid. In 1899 the state agreed to pay $75 for a half-orphan and $100 for an orphan. Although the cost of living has increased tremendously the appropriation has not been modified to meet it. This allowance in Alameda county is increased to $11 a month. But we find that sum is not sufficient to cover a child's board and clothing in most instances we have been obliged to add milk orders or grocery orders and supplement from a private fund to secure the child's care. This is merely a temporary arrangement, however."

"The Associated Charities believe that state aid for dependents should be increased to not less than $8 or $8.25 a month. With the county appropriations proper homes may then be secured. This, however, is a minimum figure."

PROBLEM IS DIFFICULT.
"Many widows drawing pensions under the state law are enabled to remain in their homes to care for their families with the further assistance of the appropriation for dependent children provided that appropriation is sufficient to care for the children who are boarded. We have endeavored to encourage these women to receive children other than their own. While it is true many people will take dependents for the sake of the child, for the most part it is a necessity that the actual expenses of these boys and girls be met."

"We are aiming to get together on some bill which will increase the present state appropriation. "We are up against a hard proposition when we try to find homes for our dependent children," says Mrs. Fred Harrison, county welfare officer. "The state and county appropriations are not sufficient and nearly always have to be supplemented by milk orders and in other ways."
